HOTTEST headlines... /

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

Gail's efforts to reunite her feuding family go disastrously wrong this week, as Nick and David end up back in the dock! Desperate to repair the catastrophic damage done by her boys' theft of grandmother Audrey's cash – for which they're already facing criminal charges – Gail calls a family meeting.

However, after the volatile gathering descends into chaos, the dramatic repercussions leave the warring brothers set to be sent to prison for breaching their bail conditions. So, is it time for stressed-out Gail to throw in the towel?

"You'd think that Nick and David stealing from Audrey would have been the final straw for Gail," wonders Helen Worth, who plays Gail. "But she just seems to be blind when it comes to the two of them, and she always lets them get away with so much. She's been in the middle of this awful mess, and she's very disappointed in her sons. She's their mum, though, so she hates the thought of the family being broken in this way."

As the week begins, however, it's Nick who's trying to smooth the waters with Audrey. His attempts to speak to his gran are scuppered, however, by solicitor Paula, who reminds him that his bail terms prohibit this. Meanwhile, he delights girlfriend Leanne as he presents her with a bracelet for her birthday before suggesting a celebratory get-together – and Gail soon pounces on the plan in the hope of mending her family...

“She isn’t really thinking this through,” admits Helen. “Getting the whole family together goes against Nick and David’s bail conditions, but she’s quite naive in that way, thinking that it will be okay for them to see Audrey if it’s just a family gathering. She agrees to try to persuade Audrey to come along, although that just causes Audrey a huge amount of stress.”

Gail is at her wits’ end by the time Nick returns home expecting to find birthday drinks being enjoyed by Leanne and his nearest and dearest – but discovers no sign of anyone. Assuming that David has scuppered his plans, he storms straight round to confront him. Although David isn’t actually to blame for the no-shows, Nick doesn’t know that, and goes in all guns blazing! Sadly, it’s Gail who ends up caught in the crossfire.

“Nick is really angry – but he’s unaware that something else has happened to put a stop to the drinks,” explains Helen. “Gail is very upset about that at this stage, so she desperately pleads with Nick and David to end it. She thinks that she can sort out the situation and get them to resolve all their issues. Her family is breaking apart in front of her eyes!”

However, despite what’s at stake regarding Nick and David’s bail, Gail proceeds to plough on with the risky idea of getting the clan together. She even tries a set-up in which an ornament is passed around, with no family member permitted to speak unless they’re holding it! Inevitably, as the brothers’ tempers start to fray, very serious consequences ensue...

“Gail thinks she has a foolproof plan,” sighs Helen. “Of course, that might work with other people, but there’s no way David and Nick are going to let the other one speak without it all kicking off! Gail’s two boys have really got it in for each other, and they’re only interested in self-preservation. But it’s not looking good for anyone – especially when the police arrive...”

As Gail abandons her astounded mother Audrey in order to support her irresponsible sons in court, it’s really not looking good for Nick and David. How will Gail cope if her boys end up behind bars this time?

Allison Jones

“Blood is thicker than water!”

Trying to negotiate any kind of truce between Nick and David is a thankless – and seemingly impossible – task. But while Gail remains blindly determined to keep her calamitous clan together against all the odds, star Helen isn’t underestimating the enormity of the challenge which lies ahead for her single-minded alter ego...

“I think the coming months are going to be some of the toughest the Platt family has ever been through,” admits the legendary actress. “Blood is thicker than water, though, and they are a family unit despite their differences. But it will fall to the women of the family to hold things together while Nick and David battle it out!”

EMMERDALE | ITV MONDAY

Robert and Diane's concern for pregnant Victoria grows

Fresh hell for Victoria!

HER PREGNANCY IS REVEALED, AS RAPIST LEE TURNS UP IN THE VILLAGE WITH HIS MUM...

Victoria faces a new nightmare this week, when a mysterious woman follows her – and it transpires that she's the mother of her rapist Lee.

She is horrified as indignant woman Wendy accuses Vic of lying about her attack. However, worse is to come after Wendy returns to the village the following day with Lee in tow – and as Victoria's furious loved ones confront the pair, Diane lets slip that Victoria is pregnant...

"It's the first time Victoria's seen Lee since the rape," shares Isabel Hodgins, who plays her. "She's thinking, 'They know where I live, where I work, they can show up whenever they want – so just when is this going to end?' She's feeling genuine fear, as she has no control of the situation."

When Wendy first looms behind Victoria, the look on her face says it all. And as Wendy proceeds to introduce herself, by insisting that Victoria stops spreading lies about Lee, the terrified chef can barely speak.

"She's shocked and scared – her first fear is that Lee is there too," sighs Isabel. "Straight away Wendy is the enemy. She has her son's interests at heart, so Victoria knows it's going to be difficult."

"It's Charity who saves the day, by jumping in and having a go at Wendy. Victoria just crumbles, yet Charity is there to hold her and tell her that it's all going to be okay."

Victoria is scared – Lee's mum Wendy is the enemy..."

Unfortunately that's not the case, since Wendy is back again the following day – this time fulfilling Victoria's worst fear by bringing Lee with her. Victoria is frozen with horror as mum and son approach, and this time it's down to Diane and Victoria's best pal, Amy, to protect her. There's no holding Amy back when Lee accuses Victoria of being behind the 'this man is a rapist' posters, causing him to lose his car salesman job. And as Victoria flees the scene, she phones her brother Robert for help...

"It was Robert who put up the posters without telling Victoria, which angered her at first – however, she's forgiven him," explains Isabel. "She knows deep down he was only trying to get justice for her. She wanted to let things lie, but Robert's incapable of that."

The moment he lays eyes on Lee, Robert has to be restrained from punching him. Intent on acting the innocent, shameless Lee heads for Mill Cottage,

Robert is doing his best to be there for his traumatised sister along with his mum. And as another showdown unfolds inside Victoria's home, Diane accidentally drops the pregnancy bombshell...

"The baby is none of Lee's business, as far as Victoria is concerned," says Isabel.

"She's going to raise this child on her own and she's more than happy with that. But now that Lee and Wendy know she's pregnant – are they going to bully her into a termination? Is Lee going to stake a claim over the baby? Will they want to be involved? It's opening a can of worms that Victoria wanted to keep closed."

With Lee knowing her secret, can Victoria ever be free of the violent predator who has ripped her world apart?

WELCOME BACK!

Susan Cookson is a familiar face...

Receiving a much warmer Dales reception than Wendy is Susan Cookson, the very recognisable actress who plays Lee's manipulative mother...

Well known for starring as Maggie Caldwell in Casualty between 2005 and 2015, Susan has also appeared in Hollyoaks, and Coronation Street (as Callum Logan's mother Marion) – as well as the likes of Waterloo Road, Cold Feet and the BBC drama Clocking Off.

"I am delighted to be joining the community that is Emmerdale," shares the star. "I am also excited about tackling all the gritty and emotional storylines that are ahead for my character Wendy. I'm thrilled to be playing such a fantastic character."

However, Wendy's unwelcome arrival isn't Susan's first visit to the Dales! She first popped up as a garage attendant in 1993, before returning as DC Fallon in 1997. Susan most recently appeared playing another police officer, DI Judy Dove, in 2003.

Callum's dad Jonno enthusiastically embraces his daughter-in-law to-be...

EASTENDERS | BBC1 THURSDAY

Callum's daddy issues revealed!

THE ARRIVAL OF JONNO BRINGS THE PAST FLOODING BACK TO TROUBLED CALLUM...

Trouble arrives in Albert Square this week, as Jonno Highway turns up – and immediately clashes with son Callum's secret lover, Ben!

While making wedding plans, Whitney asks Callum to invite his parents to their big day, and her troubled groom's reaction tells her that it's a sensitive subject. However, after a heart-to-heart with his fiancée, Callum realises it's time to reach out to Jonno. But as soon as Jonno arrives in Walford, he causes big trouble with the Mitchells...

"You have one of the toughest families on Albert Square, and then this new guy arrives and thinks he's the man about town," explains Tony Clay, who plays mixed-up Callum. "You only have to look at them to know it might kick off!"

It's a nerve-wracking time for Callum as he prepares to sit down with his father for the first time in ages. Big brother Stuart is also there when Callum and Whitney join Jonno for a meal at Walford East. It all starts well enough, but when Jonno starts to question why Callum left the Army and is now working as an undertaker, the atmosphere turns sour.

"You are going to see the root of Stuart and Callum's issues and why they don't have a lot of self-confidence, and where their anger comes from," shares Tony. "Callum was nervous that Jonno might completely embarrass him, but he was also wondering if his dad could have changed and become a new man who wants to be a part of their lives. Sadly, there's still that undercurrent of who he really is."

Jonno's dark side might catch Whitney off-guard, but it comes as no surprise to Callum. It's clear that there is a troubled history between him and his sons, and that Jonno has a very dark side. That's evident when he arrives at the Vic and encounters Phil and Ben – who are less than impressed with his swagger.

The next day, things go from bad to worse for Callum after he's roped into modelling T-shirts for Pride by Whitney. In turmoil, Callum ends up back in the Vic having another drink with his dad. However, it's when Ben sees them there and starts aiming little digs at Jonno, that the situation rapidly heads downhill.

“Callum has seen his dad be violent and aggressive before...”

Callum feels awkward about modelling the Pride T-shirts

"Callum has seen his dad be violent and aggressive before, and his first thought is that he doesn't want Ben to get hurt," continues Tony. "If you say something to trigger Jonno, it all kicks off. So he's scared for himself, he's terrified for Ben, and doesn't want Jonno to do something stupid either."

After an emotional chat with Ben about difficult dads, Callum starts to feel a little better and thanks him for the help. However, when Ben kisses Callum on the cheek, neither of them realise that Stuart has also observed their closeness.

"This is the first time the secret is starting to unearth itself, and more people are starting to know," muses Tony. "I can't see Jonno taking it well and Callum is very scared about what the fallout is going to be."

Whit is excited about her new business venture

WHITNEY PITCHES UP!

Whitney's new career is launched this week – as she opens her fashion stall on the market.

Following in the footsteps of stepmum Bianca, ambitious Whit now has her very own style empire – and she's determined to make a success out of it.

She's delighted when the Pride celebrations present her with a unique opportunity to show off her creativity. She's already impressed everyone by customising Army fatigues into cool clobber, and now Whitney is designing T-shirts for her friends and neighbours to wear as they attend the Pride event.

Little does she know that as she strikes out as an entrepreneur and fashion designer, her fiancé Callum is struggling to cope with his sexuality – and the happy-ever-after she is dreaming off could soon be shattered into a million pieces...

Carla's back! And she has a big surprise...

HER FUTURE PLANS ASTONISH THE FACTORY WORKERS...

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

Fragile Carla returns home to Weatherfield this week – and she's about to make an announcement that will change the lives of the Underworld staff!

After being treated in Carlisle following her psychosis, Carla is finally well enough to come home, so doting Peter brings her back to the cobbles. However, as soon as she's arrived, Carla heads over to Underworld to talk to the staff she left behind, and clear the air. Nothing can prepare them for what she's about to say...

"Even

stunned!"

"Carla knows she's not going to get a warm welcome, but she's determined to face her workers," reveals our Corrie spy. "They still blame her for the roof collapse and

Rana Habib's tragic death – yet those feelings have softened a little after Carla got so terribly ill. They are intrigued when she announces she has something to tell them – and it's fair to say that even gobby Beth is left stunned and speechless by Carla's words!"

After making her surprise announcement, Carla returns home to Roy's flat. Peter can't

Carla has returned with a whole new perspective on life believe it when she tells him what she's done, and he starts wondering if he needs to take drastic action. Peter even thinks that Carla's psychosis could be affecting her judgement, leading her to make rash decisions. Roy listens when Peter suggests that Carla might not be well enough to make choices and that they should consider seeking a Power of Attorney to protect her. What they don't realise is that Carla has overheard every word of their chat, and is absolutely raging!

"Whatever she's been through, Carla believes she is thinking clearly and she hasn't come to this decision lightly," shares our spy. Dr Love will see you now!

BUT WILL MARIA REALISE THAT ALI IS INTERESTED?

Singleton Maria gets some heavy hints from new admirer Dr Ali this week – but she doesn't seem to realise that he's flirting with her!

Fed up of her rubbish love life, Maria decides to take some action and sets up a profile on a dating site. She's hoping to find a decent bloke, yet is unaware that lovely Ali is giving her the eye. Even son Liam clocks Ali's interest when he sees the handsome doc staring at his stunning mum. But Maria is busy trying to understand why the responses to her dating ad are so smutty.

"To say that some of the guys are being 'forward' is quite the understatement," laughs our Corrie spy. "Maria's getting blatant propositions and some very raunchy messages. What she doesn't realise is that she's listed 'Netflix and chill' as one of her interests, but the seemingly innocent phrase actually means something very rude indeed!"

It's Bethany who explains to Maria that she's created a profile that suggests she's up for casual sex. Mortified Maria is horrified by her mistake and demands that Bethany deletes the app at once.

Later, in the Rovers, Maria moans to Ali about how she can never find a decent man and what a wasteland her love life is. The charming doc tells her there might be someone right under her nose who'd make a brilliant boyfriend, but clueless Maria doesn't pick up on his not-too-subtle message.

Will Ali get tired of dropping hints and move on before Maria realises she has an admirer?

They've been on a massive journey together over the past few months, so Peter listens when Carla tells him why she's doing this. She explains that Rana's death and the psychosis have given her a whole new perspective on life and she wants him to support her. Her next move is to find Kate to give her a wholehearted apology for what happened to Rana and to face up to her failings.

The sisters have an emotional meeting, and Carla tells Kate she wishes she'd heeded Gary's warning about the roof. Will Kate be able to forgive Carla and support her as she continues her recovery?

MICK'S SHOCK COLLAPSE!

His health takes a turn for the worse...

Walford favourite Mick Carter will be struck down by a sudden illness, judging by these new pictures of EastEnders star Danny Dyer filming on location.

The Queen Vic landlord turned part-time football coach is refereeing a kids' soccer match when he keels over in agony. Surely this isn't the end for our beloved Mick?

"One minute Mick is on his feet shouting the odds, and the next he's collapsed in a heap on the ground," reports our Albert Square spy. "He and Mitch are helping out at the game when one of the young players is fouled, and the boy's father barges on to the pitch to have it out with Mick. As Mitch intervenes and tries to calm the situation, Mick stumbles backwards and can be seen clutching his chest in pain. It's a serious enough incident for Mitch to call for an ambulance."

EastEnders bosses are staying tight-lipped on how significant Mick's condition is set to be, while the newspapers claim that he'll suffer a heart attack.

However, we're hopeful that Mick's collapse could simply be a result of stress, given the mounting pressure he's been under at home. The Carters were recently worried to learn that their four-year-old son, Ollie, has been showing signs of autism and that he'll need to undergo further tests. So while Mick himself is examined for underlying health issues, will it turn out that life has simply got on top of the struggling dad? Or might something more serious be the cause?

CORRIE'S BABY BOOM!

Will eight youngsters play Ches and Gemma's quads?

Several key Corrie cast members are to leave the cobbles over this year and next – but the good news is that up to eight new and very cute faces might soon join the ranks!

The soap's casting department will have a tough task choosing the babies who will play Gemma and Chesney's quadruplets, with star Sam Aston (Ches) speculating how Corrie will do it on ITV's This Morning...

"Normally when a character has a baby on the show, he or she is played by twins," revealed Sam. "With quads I imagine they'll also need to be double – so that's eight babies!"

While it remains to be seen how former couple Ches and Gemma would have coped with one baby, let alone four, recently married Sam isn't too worried about the sheer volume of new co-stars joining him on set.

"I'm an uncle to 15," shared the actor. "I'm used to chaos!"

LOVE IS IN THE SQUARE!

Newcomer Sheree steals Patrick's heart...

Casanova Patrick will raise eyebrows in Walford when he returns with a new lady on his arm! His kind-of-daughters, Denise and Kim, will no doubt feel that they are competing for Patrick's affections as Sheree bursts on to the scene, and sets the cat among the pigeons...

"Sheree is a force of nature with a big heart, who is never far away from trouble," grins EastEnders' executive producer, Jon Sen. "Fans are in for a treat this summer!"

Actress Suzette Llewellyn has previously appeared in Coronation Street and Doctors, and more recently has been playing Xavier's mother Nanette in Holby City.

Meanwhile, another familiar face is also set to arrive in Walford. Actress Amy Robbins – who viewers may recognise from her time playing Dr Jill Weatherill from 2003 to 2011 in ITV's The Royal, and Scott's mother Lynette Drinkwell in Hollyoaks – has signed up for a guest stint to air later this summer. What – and who – lies ahead? Mikey North teases the killer's next move...

Corrie viewers were still reeling from the revelation that Gary caused the Underworld roof collapse and Rana Habeeb's death – only for him to promptly put an end to loan shark Rick Neelan, too! Star Mikey North, who plays Gary, tells us the shock plot was conceived over one too many tequilas...

"The story was first pitched to me at our Christmas party!" he says. "Drinks were had and I woke up going, 'Is that happening? Gary becoming a killer?' It's an honour to be Corrie's next villain – but you also have to think about your job, and what it means going forward!"

So who is next on Gary's hit list? It sounds as if we are right to worry for Inside Soap fave Adam Barlow...

"There's been talk of the Gary and Adam rivalry, and I think the show is building it up," teases Mikey. "If we get a sort of Mike Baldwin-Ken Barlow thing going on, that'll be great if we can live up to two Corrie legends."

"I hope viewers understand why Gary killed Rick – it was self-defence," adds the star. "I can't see how he'll get past it mentally, though. He's lost everything, and now he's killed twice. It's the start of a new Gary Windass..."

There's double trouble this week as Andrea finally meets mysterious Karen!

The showdown comes just as Andrea is managing to successfully embed herself deeper into Toadie's life, even ending up staying the night at his house, so how will she feel to come face to face with the woman who may be Toadie's true love, Dee Bliss?

"Of course, for Andrea the closer people come to finding Karen, the smaller her chance gets to connect with Toadie," says Madeleine West, who this week we will get to see playing both Andrea and mysterious Karen. "She's making a lot of progress with Toadie, and there's a big milestone when she falls asleep on the couch, and out of the kindness of his heart, Toadie lets her lie there. But of course, it's all a charade, as you'll see, because she then gets on the phone to her mum!"

Meanwhile, Andrea's mother, Heather, has flown to Byron Bay in order to find out more information on Karen. When she arrives, Heather manages to catch up with Riley, the other mystery man in the photo of Karen. Despite Riley's reluctance to admit that he knows Karen, Heather asks him to pass on a message to her. When Andrea finds out what her mother has done, she rushes to Byron Bay to confront her. She tells her mum to abandon the search – yet when Karen asks to meet Andrea, she can't resist. Soon, the pair meet on a cliff-top...

"Andrea is fascinated by this woman," grins Madeleine. "It's one thing to know you have a doppelganger out there, but to see them and speak to them is quite confronting."

However, Madeleine also reveals that Andrea isn't prepared to let Karen get anywhere near Toadie.

"Andrea has one motive," insists Madeleine. "And that is to convince Karen that there's no reason for her to go to Erinsborough. But Karen has no idea who this Andrea is. She's been given no warning – Andrea's just this woman standing in front of her, who looks like her and sounds like her. It's almost beyond the realms of reality!

"Andrea has one motive – to stop Karen from going to Erinsborough"

"Karen deals with it as best she can," she continues. "But Karen's immediately suspicious as to why this woman is trying to convince her not to go to Erinsborough, why she's meeting her on the cliff-top, and how this all came to be."

However, the big question remains: is Karen really Dee? And will Andrea's plan be derailed by her mysterious double?

Madeleine discusses playing two roles...

The drama is mounting on screen between Andrea and Karen, as the two finally come face to face. But how was it for star Madeleine to play two very different characters that appear together?

"Oh, it was incredible – an acting masterclass," she grins. "It was such an interesting challenge, and I really enjoyed it. It required a lot of research and a lot of work, and it was very exhausting – however, you rarely get an opportunity to play such a hyperbolic storyline, and have the challenge of bringing that into reality. I feel as if it's possibly some of the best acting I've ever done."

Meanwhile, Madeleine – who originally left Neighbours back in 2003 – tells us that she never expected she would one day come back...

"I knew the chance to return was out there," she reveals. "But I'd never really contemplated it, and definitely not in such a dramatic fashion!"

AS SYLVER LASHES OUT AT MERCEDES, COULD HE END UP FOLLOWING IN BREDA'S MURDEROUS FOOTSTEPS?

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 TUESDAY

Mercedes is left shaken by Sylver's outburst

The honeymoon is well and truly over for Sylver and Mercedes this week, after the furious husband finds out his missus is still taking drugs!

Mercedes promised her hubby she would never take illegal substances again, and vowed to get clean to win back custody of her nephew, Max. So when Sylver finds out that she's still using, he loses his temper big time – and things soon turn violent...

"Breda may be the serial killer in the family, but let's not forget that Sylver spent many years in jail for murdering his stepdad," our Hollyoaks spy reminds us. "He appears to be a big teddy bear, yet Sylver often struggles to keep his temper in check. And Mercedes' wild behaviour could end up triggering an outburst!"

As the week kicks off, Mercedes and Sylver are both nervous while they prepare for Max coming to visit for his birthday. After the lad decided to go to live with his Auntie Nicole, convinced Mercedes didn't love him, the stressed-out woman is keen to prove just how much her nephew means to her.

However, as his visit gets off to a bad start, the pressure mounts for Mercedes – and she heads to the bathroom for a quick pick-me-up! But after she returns to the celebrations and makes a show of herself, Sylver quickly gets wise to what's really going on...

Taking Mercedes to one side, angry Sylver demands answers – and she eventually admits that she's been taking cocaine again. By the time Breda arrives, Sylver has worked himself up into such a state that she only just misses being hit by the chair he flings across the room in a rage!

"Sylver's absolutely fuming, make no mistake," our mole tells us. "He's a simple, straight-forward guy, so the fact that his wife has been keeping things from him is unacceptable in his eyes. Of course, he still has no idea that she's the one responsible for mowing down Grace Black, and that taking drugs is her way of blocking out all the awful things she's done."

With his anger spiralling out of control, Sylver storms off to his workshop – where his mum eventually catches up with him. She's beside herself with worry as he smashes things up, and she becomes more concerned when he talks to her about his violent past.

So, could Sylver be about to follow in his murderous mother's footsteps as his anger gets the better of him? Or might protective Breda decide to shield her precious boy from any further hurt, and do away with Mercedes before he can get there?

True enough, Diane – but there's also those who would pay double for exactly that.

"Grinding up a fruit just because it's shaped like a man's family jewels is not going to help you live in the present, Roy. You're going to have to think bigger than that."

Roy would be bananas to ignore Evelyn's sage advice.

Well, yes – it is VERY weird now you come to mention it.

"Is there anything better than pulling a moist and steaming calf out into the world?"

We're not sure what might be better than that. Slipping in sick? Root canal surgery?

Showdown at the Slaters!

BUT KAT HAS A PLAN TO HELP KUSH FIGHT FOR HIS SON...

Jean tries to bring everyone together to find a solution

The fight for custody of young Arthur takes a bitter turn this week, when Stacey receives an intimidating letter from Kush's solicitor! Is there any way to heal the rift within the Slater family?

As soon as Stacey receives the legal notification in the post, she flies off the handle – prompting her mum, Jean, to try to get the two parties to call a truce. Sadly, with Stacey and Martin on one side, and Kush and Kat on the other, the peace talks don't get very far before a barrage of insults are being slung back and forth!

"This is so daft," despairs our Walford mole. "They're all one family, and should all be on the same side. They never had any difficulty in sharing Arthur before, so why has this suddenly become such a big issue? Frankly, they all need their heads knocking together!"

It's all too much for Jean, who ends up getting ill with the stress of all the bickering. However, although everyone is concerned for Jean's health, no one is willing to back down. In fact, Stacey even makes an announcement that she's going to hire a solicitor of her own.

Meanwhile, Kush admits to Kat that he's not sure how he'll be able to fund the legal fees. He even fears that if it all drags on much longer, he may have to drop the whole thing. Kat tells him not to worry about money, though – mindful that she still has the £50,000 which Alife swindled out of Phil.

Nevertheless, Kush remains on edge, and when Stacey makes it clear that she's not willing to cave in to his demands, he starts to crumble. After dismissing the idea of asking his mum for financial help, Kush breaks down in tears. And that's when Kat tells her man that she'll pay for the legal fees...

"This is so daft – they're one family and should be on the same side!"

"Kat is willing to do anything to help Kush," says our spy. "She received this cash by pure chance, so she might as well put it to good use. Unfortunately, when Kat returns to No 31 to retrieve the money, she realises that it's gone! Could it have been discovered by Big Mo or Stacey? Or perhaps someone else? Wherever it is, it's bad news for Kush's quest."

When both Mo and Stacey deny all knowledge, Kat steels herself for telling Kush that she'll have to renege on her promise. But she then overhears a tense conversation between Kush and Martin, and starts to wonder if it was Stacey's hubby who took the loot...

Later, Kat calls a family crisis meeting to get to the bottom of the mystery, and although the finger of suspicion points squarely at Martin, he claims that he wasn't even aware the cash existed. Raging Stacey then blows her top when she realises that Kat only wants the money in order to use it against her in the legal fight. However, might Stacey know more than she's willing to let on?

How Kat came to inherit a small fortune...

Alfie Moon fled Albert Square in January, but not before leaving estranged wife Kat £50,000 which he'd 'borrowed' from Phil.

Phil had initially been reluctant to lend the money to Alfie, although Alfie then made Phil an offer, showing him the security for the loan – his expensive car. However, no sooner had Alfie got his hands on Phil's cash, than he did a runner, taking the car with him! Phil angrily turned on Kat, telling her that Alfie's debt was now hers, but she insisted that she had no idea what he was talking about. Reluctantly acknowledging that Kat was an innocent party, Phil backed down, yet vowed to get revenge on Alfie if he ever sees him again.

It was only once Phil had left that Kat realised that Alfie had hidden the £50,000 in the house for her! Since then, Kat has kept it safe – or so she thought...

Geoff caught out?

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

WILL RYAN AND ALYA BE ABLE TO OPEN
YASMEEN'S EYES TO HIS TRUE NATURE?

Yasmeen has been particularly on edge since she was mugged

Manipulative Geoff is collared by Ryan this week, when the jealous boyfriend is caught with Yasmeen's stolen jewellery!

Geoff stole Yasmeen's precious possessions as he upped his secret campaign to make her feel unsafe in her own home and to bring her under his control. But when Ryan and Alya see one of the missing trinkets fall out of Geoff's pocket as he's heading home, they challenge him in front of horrified Yasmeen.

"It looks as though Geoff is banged to rights and Yasmeen might realise what he's been doing," suggests our Corrie insider. "He's forced to turn out his pockets and, sure enough, there's one of the missing items. Ryan believes it's an open-and-shut case, but Geoff has an ace up his sleeve. He produces a receipt that proves it's a replacement he bought for his partner – and now he wants them all to eat humble pie!"

It's a sickening moment for Yasmeen as Geoff rages that if she doesn't trust him, he'll move out immediately.

Desperate to make amends, Yasmeen tries to resolve the situation, and Geoff eventually agrees to stay. With this glitch behind them, Geoff makes it his business to spoil Yasmeen rotten, and she's eternally grateful when he brings her a Champagne breakfast, replaces her lost photo of her late son Kal, and helps her with her insurance claim.

Seeing that she's shaken and vulnerable, Geoff later moves his plan forward when “Yasmeen trusts Geoff completely – but little does she know...!”

Geoff spoils Yasmeen, but then makes her feel as though she can't cope on her own

Corrie tackles COERCIVE CONTROL

We look deeper into what's happening with Yasmeen...

Domestic abuse can take many different forms, and not all of them involve physical violence. At present Yasmeen is being manipulated by Geoff, who is using tactics of intimidation and control to isolate her. And as Katie Ghosh, chief executive of Women's Aid, lays out the signs of coercive control, it certainly rings some bells with Yasmeen's situation...

"It's a warning sign if your partner is constantly chipping away at your self-esteem and rubbishing you," she says. "If they are monitoring who you see, what you wear, and where you go, or taking away your ability to see your friends and family. Financial abuse – controlling and monitoring what you spend – can also be something to look out for."

It certainly seems likely that this is where the plot is heading. Over the next few weeks, it will be intriguing to see just how much a woman as confident as Yasmeen can be worn down – and how hard she'll fight to take back control of her life...

he tells Yasmeen he's saved her money on her home insurance – and is happy to look after more financial issues for her. But if Yasmeen allows Geoff access to her personal information, will it give him even more control over her?

"After everything that's happened, Yasmeen is just so grateful to feel safe and protected by Geoff," warns our spy. "She feels fearful and unsure of herself, so Geoff's offer is coming at exactly the right time. Even when he tells her the insurance money will be hitting his bank account, not hers, because he accidentally gave the wrong details, Yasmeen isn't fazed at all. She trusts Geoff completely and is just pleased he's there for her. Little does she know..."

Having gained control of the finances, Geoff seems to be well and truly in the driving seat, until a Speed Daal client interrupts his plans. Alya and Yasmeen are booked to do the catering for a big charity event, and they're incredibly flattered. But Geoff puts it into Yasmeen's head that she's too old to be taking on the extra work, swiftly crushing her confidence. As she tells Alya to go it alone, it's clear Geoff's grip is tightening.

Will Yasmeen realise he's not the man she thinks he is before she loses herself completely?

HUMAN BONES ARE FOUND AT THE SCHOOL, AND JESSIE IS CAUGHT UP IN THE SEARCH FOR ANSWERS...

There's a massive shock for Jessie at school this week, when human remains are discovered on the site.

The stunned head teacher is horrified after bones are found and later identified as belonging to a baby. The news sends shock waves across the school, with teachers, parents and students wondering what happened. However, the truth about the sad situation could be closer than Jessie realises, as police identify a person of interest in their enquiries.

"It's heartbreaking because whatever happened to this baby was deeply tragic," shares our Dales insider.

"Nobody in the village really wants to believe that this was a deliberate act of violence – instead, they are worried that something terrible happened, and the person who buried the baby panicked. Whatever went on, the police need to get to the bottom of it."

Jessie prepares to hold a press conference to answer questions and appeal for more information, yet the police are already working on a lead. The DNA testing has helped them identify the mother of the baby, a former pupil of the school called Jenny Finn, who had the baby aged just 16. But does she hold the key to the truth of what happened to her child?

"Jenny Finn isn't a name anyone knows in Emmerdale, although when a picture of her is circulated, it's a different story," says our source. "The teenage girl in the photograph bears a striking resemblance to one of the villagers, and there's no doubt that this woman will have to answer questions about whether she is Jenny Finn or if she can prove that she isn't."

If this Dales local does have a past that she has been hiding, it'll come as a massive shock to those who know and love her. What took place all those years ago was obviously profoundly traumatic – but is there a story to be told that can help police understand why the person who buried the baby stayed silent?

LYDIA AND SAM STREAK FOR LISA...

Cheeky Sam and Lydia fulfil one of Lisa's bucket-list ambitions this week – by running naked through a field.

The brave couple bare all after discovering that streaking was one of the challenges Lisa had set herself. Although they fear being spotted, Lydia is game for a laugh and strips off for the big moment. But what she and Sam don't realise is that neighbour Priya is outside chatting with Megan while they head out – so they have an audience!

"It's not what you expect to see in the countryside – Priya and Megan are left speechless!" says our Dales spy. "If Lisa could see all this, she'd laugh herself silly. It's quite a sight to behold."

When they get back, Lydia and Sam's naked tale highly amuses Zak, who is touched that the family is making sure his late wife's wishes are granted.

However, he has more pressing matters on his mind as he tries to decide what to do with Lisa's ashes.

Filled with overwhelming sadness and desperate to get it right, Zak is in a bit of a state trying to choose the best thing to do. He wants to make sure that they lay Lisa to rest somewhere close to them, but where she would have liked too – and after living such a full and vibrant life, there are almost too many choices.

This is the last thing Zak will do for the woman he loves, so he's putting extra pressure on himself in order to make the perfect memorial to her.

There's no doubt that Zak and the family will need to go and talk to Lisa from time to time, so it must be a place that they're all able to reach. Can the family help him find a place for his darling Lisa and ease the burden?

WALFORD'S FINEST ARE OUT AND PROUD...

Albert Square plays host to the biggest Pride event Walford's ever seen this week – but will timid Bernadette be celebrating good times? Or will the whole day go west?

Bernadette has been lacking in confidence regarding matters of the heart, and it hasn't helped that since coming out as gay last year, she's only had eyes for her straight best mate, Tiffany. Loyal Tiff has tried to boost her pal's self-esteem, encouraging her to get out there and start dating – yet so far it just hasn't really happened for bashful Bernie.

"Tiff has persuaded Bernie to sign up to a dating app," explains our Walford sneak.

"The poor girl is worried about leaving herself emotionally exposed, so she's currently being ultra-cautious! Things seem to turn a corner, though, when she receives a message from a girl named Sophia. Could she be the one?"

Bernie is soon obsessing over Sophia, and messages start flying back and forth between the pair. But Bernie starts getting suspicious that not everything is as it seems. And when she spots Tiff sending a message on her phone, it all falls into place – 'Sophia' is a fake profile put there by Tiff!

Unsurprisingly, Bernadette is crushed, and even though Tiff tries to explain that she only did it to help build up her confidence, her best friend doesn't want to know.

"This all happens on the eve of the Pride event," groans our mole. "Bernie is feeling so low that she's not even sure if she can bring herself to show her face. However, Tiff discretely reminds Karen that it's Bernie's first Pride, so it's a really big deal. And Karen is determined that it will be a day that will live long in the memory – for all the right reasons!"

At the event, Albert Square is a sight to behold. Kathy is delighted that the recently opened Prince Albert is full to bursting, and Big Mo gets in on the act, selling all manner

A LITTLE OF THIS, A LITTLE OF THAT

I wanted to respond to the Star Letter in issue 24. I think it's entirely plausible that Callum likes men, especially as he'd not slept with anyone before Whitney. I think that the brilliant thing EastEnders has done is to not label it. Callum might be bisexual, and wanting both Whitney and Ben is part of the reason he's so confused.

NICE TO MEET YOU

In real life, there are people who have never spoken to anyone who lives on their street – but soaps go to the opposite extreme. Within a few days of arriving, new Coronation Street family the Baileys were drinking in the pub with their neighbours as if they were long-lost friends. How ludicrous.

📧 | Colin, Southgate

It's true. Here at Inside Soap, we hardly speak to the people on the magazine in the next room. But soaps need people to meet, or else there'd be no drama!

It drives me mad that people in soaps get a job so easily. Please can I live in Emmerdale? All you need to do is walk into the Woolpack, David's shop or the factory, and ask. My husband and I find it hard as everyone wants school-leavers. Whereas in soap, it's simple.

THE TWO FACES OF LOVE RAT ROBERT PRESTON

He's encouraging Michelle's wedding dreams, while pledging his devotion to Vicky and their unborn child. You've had plenty to say about Robert...

It may explain why Robert was acting so shiftily around the time of the roof collapse, if he's been seeing Vicky all this time – but I have to say that she really doesn't seem his type at all. In fact, she's far too good for him!

👉 | Darcy, Leeds

I'd find this story really far-fetched if you didn't hear about the same sort of thing happening in real life all the time. Is this how men end up keeping two families? Not because they're greedy, but because they are too weak and vain to tell either one of their wives the truth! I hope the two of them get together in the end, and box his ears!

👉 | Nicola

I suspect that boxing his ears will be the very least they do to Robert – especially if Michelle finds the nutcrackers in the Bistro kitchen!

One thing I hope about this Robert and Michelle storyline is that Vicky finds a way of surviving it. With so many actors having said they are leaving Coronation Street recently, the show should try to keep hold of a character as interesting and realistic as Vicky.

👉 | Jac, Chelmsford

I do worry about who is going to run that Bistro after Robert and Michelle leave Corrie. Please not Nick and Leanne! He's a total liability, as David will tell you, and I seem to remember that she once burnt down a restaurant for the insurance money!

THE BIG interview

“Who wouldn’t want Phil Mitchell as a dad-in-law?”

While Walford’s Callum continues to struggle with his sexuality, Tony Clay tells us why he hopes there’s a future for ‘Ballum’...

EASTENDERS | BBC1 THURSDAY

From the moment that Callum Highway stared a little too long into Ben Mitchell’s eyes, EastEnders fans have been intrigued by the potential of this shock new coupling. It didn’t take long for Ben to move from closeted Callum’s antagonist to becoming the object of his desire. Terrified about coming out and destroying the world he’s created with devoted Whitney, the ex soldier proposed and now finds himself preparing for a wedding that must be doomed. It’s an explosive plot in the making, and for Walford favourite Tony Clay (Callum) it’s been one heck of a ride already...

“When the Callum and Ben story started, I didn’t expect so many people to say, ‘OMG, yes! I’m massively here for that!’” he admits. “It’s mad that people have taken straight to it and now I’m learning what it’s like to be part of a soap fandom – we’re known as ‘Ballum’ and me and Max [Bowden, who plays Ben] are very happy with our hashtag! That’s the one that the fans have chosen.”

There’s no doubt fans love the chemistry between the pair. But what pulls them together when they are such different characters?

“That’s what keeps the fire between them, that love-hate thing,” shares Tony. “It’s never been there with Whitney – the relationship with her is all love because she’s his idea of the perfect woman. Yet with Ben, he can see the real person behind the bravado and that he’s someone who cares and has that affection inside him. I think Callum could potentially save Ben’s soul!”

For now, though, Callum seems determined to make Whitney his wife and the wedding plans are marching on. Is there a part of this reluctant groom that believes he can just go ahead with the marriage to Whitney, and suppress his true sexuality forever?

“I think Callum does believe he can do that,” explains Tony. “He thinks what happened with Ben happened, and now it’s time to knuckle down, marry the girl of his dreams and have 2.4 children. However, it’s not fair on Whitney or on him. What he struggles with the most is letting her down, yet I think he knows this is all going to fall apart eventually.”

Callum’s reunion with his dad Jonno, who is a difficult character and very hard on his sons, happens the same week as Walford’s Pride event. Living with his guilt and keeping up a façade is overwhelming for Callum, but the occasion shows him that he could be living a happier life.

“I love the contrast of Callum’s story with Pride this week – the celebrations make him think, ‘Actually this is really beautiful and I’d love to be a part of it,’” says Tony. “Pride shows him that being gay isn’t something to shy away from. Nobody should ever feel as though they can’t live their truth and people should embrace who they truly are.”

Pride and joy: The event changes Callum’s outlook on his sexuality

That's what this storyline is all about, that you shouldn't be afraid to be who you are, or let others make you afraid."

There's plenty of people who are scaring Callum right now – including dad Jonno, brother Stuart, Whitney and Phil. However, if Ben and Callum make a go of it, the nervous bloke is going to have to face a very tricky family dynamic.

"Who wouldn't want Phil Mitchell as a father-in-law?" laughs Tony. "You'd be protected forever. That's a massive pro to being with Ben! But seriously, I think the fact both of them have a difficult relationship with their fathers is the root of it. Ben and Callum are very similar in many ways, although worlds apart in others. That feeling that you've never really belonged or that people are against you is a real point of connection between them."

Many viewers watching this story may face the same problems as Callum – does Tony hope that EastEnders can help them deal with real-life issues?

"Absolutely, that's the most important thing for us," insists the star. "If we can help one person come out, we've done our jobs. We tell stories that people at home can relate to, invest in and see part of themselves in. So if someone thinks, 'Actually, I'm going to face my family or friends and embrace who I am' then that's amazing. It means the world to me to affect other people's lives by doing the job I love."

Boy wonder: Closeted Callum has fallen for Ben...

Kate White

Hurricane

Bianca!

Tony hopes there's a storm on the way...

Tony admits that when the Ben and Callum storyline was first revealed to him and cast mate Shona McGarty – who plays Whitney – they were thrilled at the possibilities it opened up for their characters. The actor is also loving establishing a new dynamic with co-star Max Bowden, the man behind his new screen love interest...

"The whole plot is hugely exciting for us all," beams Tony. "One minute Callum is talking about having a baby with Whitney, the next minute he's in this whole new world. For Shona, it's a chance to do some big scenes if Whitney has to deal with the truth about Callum. Whichever way it goes, we're going to really roll with it."

"Meanwhile, with Max, there's always going to be this worry at the start that you might not get on with the other person, but me and him have a great relationship," continues the actor. "We have a lovely chemistry and, although we make each other laugh a lot, there's always a level of professionalism there when we have big, intense scenes. I'm grateful to be sharing this 'Ballum' journey with Max, especially since we are both relatively new to EastEnders. We feel as if we are part of a movement here, and hearing the fan reaction is just great. Everybody wants to know they are doing a good job, and the response has given us that self-belief. It's a beautiful thing."

However, there's one more person we have to ask Tony about. Whitney's stepmum Bianca is on her way back to the Square – so if the truth about Callum was to be exposed, is Tony's alter ego prepared for her wrath?

"It would be brilliant – Callum would need a passport and to be on the go straight away if Bianca found out!" laughs Tony. "I'd be buzzing to do scenes with Patsy Palmer [who plays her], so we'll just have to see what happen as the story unfolds..."

Bear with me: Sally says Faith's relationship with the wrestler is platonic

You gotta have FAITH!

SALLY DEXTER LAYS HER CARDS ON THE TABLE AS WE MAKE HER CHOOSE... POLLARD OR BEAR?

EMMERDALE | ITV TUESDAY

Val Pollard was always going to be a tough act for any woman in Eric's life to follow – but Dales chiefs struck soap gold when they paired him up with the outrageously brilliant Faith Dingle. Pollard loves her, viewers adore her – and the lady who plays her, Sally Dexter, has a soft spot for Faith too...

"She can handle her drink a lot better than I can – I'm rubbish!" howls the 59-year-old star, as she joins Inside Soap for a catch-up. "Playing Faith is a great way of discovering what it's like to be an outgoing party girl. She's fabulous!"

Faith's effervescence and all-round lust for life make her very appealing, so it's no surprise that she's caught the eye of Paddy's flirtatious father, Bear Wolf. The former wrestler made a move on Faith a few weeks ago, kissing her at the very moment that her beloved Pollard was mowed down in the village. But Sally's adamant that her alter ego is in no way grappling with her feelings where the two men are concerned – and that Faith's heart lies with Pollard.

"In many ways I think that Faith and Pollard are a smashing match," grins the star. "They get along great, they make each other smile – and he can give Faith the finer things in life that she enjoys!"

"With Bear, I don't think she'll ever be tempted, but Faith does like him," adds Sally. "She sees him as quite a vulnerable chap, so I reckon that Faith sees herself as more of a big sister, making sure that he's all right."

Faith has Bear's best interests at heart this week, as it's clear the duo are in cahoots about something other than their smooch. However, as they plan a wrestling-themed event for Paddy's birthday, Pollard happens to spot what he assumes is an intimate moment between the pair – and decides to challenge his love rival to a fight!

Pollard is jealous – he challenges Bear to a fight!

"Well, Pollard – in a fit of jealous rage – leaps into the middle of the ring and challenges Bear to a duel!" exclaims Sally. "It's appalling for everybody, particularly Faith, who doesn't want to see Pollard pulverised. She wants to save him from an ignominious defeat!"

With that, Faith springs into action to protect her man, but poor Pollard's pride is left seriously wounded. The following day, Faith is devastated to find that he's turfed her belongings out of his home and seemingly called time on their relationship. Although this is Faith Dingle we're talking about – and she's not prepared to give up on Pollard so easily...

"It's a low moment when Eric dumps all her stuff – and there's a fair amount of it – on Debbie's doorstep," explains Sally. "Faith feels very down, but determined that she will win him back. She dresses up to the nines like nobody other than Faith can – and goes all out to woo him. She's a braver woman than me – and a braver dresser!"

Dales viewers will have to wait and see whether Faith's saucy seduction is enough to convince Pollard that she's a one-man woman. Meanwhile, Sally – who joined Emmerdale in 2017 to play Chas and Cain's estranged mum – has enjoyed quite the ride in the village. From Faith's reveal of her double mastectomy to sending Kim Tate crashing over a balcony into a table of Champagne, it's been far from quiet in the country since she rocked up. And Sally's delighted that viewers have taken the Dingle clan's most glamorous granny into their hearts.

"I think the audience feels the same way as I do about Faith – she's just great fun to have around," beams the actress. "It's an instant party when she's on!"

Laura-Jayne Tyler

Polls apart: With his pride dented, Eric calls time on his relationship with Faith

Living the DREAM!

Sally devises Faith's next plot...

Faith is already on Inside Soap's radar as one of Emmerdale's classic heroines, but star Sally is one step ahead of us – and possibly even the writers – with an idea that'll see Faith go the extra mile for the village folk of Emmerdale...

"I would really love it if there were some kind of benign gangster element that crept into her existence," enthuses Sally. "Like a 'Robina Hood', somebody who was keen to rob from the rich and give to the poor. But also she would have a hard element to her – Faith can be quite savvy if she really chooses to be!"

Faith-less: Will Pollard and his partner kiss and make up?

“This is the first time Adam has fallen in love!”

The Lothario is serious about the new lady in his life, insists Corrie’s Sam Robertson...

Well suited: Sarah and Adam are smitten

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

Adam Barlow has been Weatherfield’s most eligible bachelor for an unfeasibly long time now. He’s handsome, charming and successful, so the fact that Adam is still on his own has us scratching our heads in disbelief. That’s all changed since he swooped back on to the cobbles and made a move on newly single Sarah, a girl he’s been pining after for a while. And with the sizzling chemistry between them – not to mention the potential drama it’ll cause with Corrie’s new supervillain, and Sarah’s ex, Gary Windass – things are about to get very interesting, predicts Street star Sam Robertson, aka Adam...

“I love that Adam and Sarah are getting together – it’s funny as my first-ever acting experience was with Tina O’Brien [who plays Sarah] when I was just 18,” laughs the actor. “I was screen-tested for the role of Adam with her. It’s really weird that 15 years later, I’m working with Tina a lot!”

When Adam returned from three months abroad, he quickly discovered that Sarah was on the market again, and wasted no time in sweeping her off her feet. However, this isn’t just another fling to Adam – in Sarah, he sees somebody really special.

“If anyone is going to bring out the softer side to Adam, it’ll be Sarah...”

Teenage kicks: Sam and co-star Tina have known each other a long time

“The spark started at Christmas when they kissed,” shares Sam. “While Adam was away, he missed Sarah and really fancied her. So when he found out she and Gary had broken up, he pounced! I think Adam would like to make it serious with Sarah – and if the viewers dig it, it might happen! I don’t believe he’s ever fallen in love with anybody, so this will be his first time!”

The issue for Adam is that he has a very dangerous rival for Sarah’s

Que Sarah: Passion with Adam has helped the Platt woman move on from Gary affections in the form of Gary – her ex-fiancé. He’s already been responsible for the factory collapse and death of Rana Habeeb, as well as killing loan shark Rick in self-defence. Adam is suspicious of Gary and has been digging into his past – but that could cost the solicitor dearly if his desperate nemesis decides he must get rid of Adam.

“I’ve always thought Mikey North, who plays Gary, has great energy and I love watching him act,” enthuses Sam. “Tina’s dynamite – she’s really fun to be around and a great talent. So to work with Mikey and Tina and be in that mix is fantastic. It’s quite humbling that the writers and producers think I am capable of reaching their standards.”

It’s been a huge journey for Sam with the role of Adam, after playing him for three years from 2004 when he was just 18 years old, before reprising the role in 2016. Is he anything like his alter ego?

"One thing I realised early on in Corrie is that I had to decide whether to keep all of my personal traits away from the character," explains Sam. "I did that for a while, but I found it stifling. Adam was a bit more serious and loved himself, and I felt he was a bit charmless. So, I worked hard to make him a bit more smiley. I hope people see my cheeky side in Adam!"

The twinkle in Adam's eye is certainly working for us, and Sarah seems smitten too. So far, he's stayed quite a light and fun-loving guy – although will we get to dig deeper now he's opened himself up to love?

"I hope we'll see more of his softer side," muses Sam. "There have been a few moments over the past couple of years where Adam talks about his mum and being an orphan, so he sometimes shows his vulnerability. But if anyone is going to bring out that element of his character, it will be Sarah..."

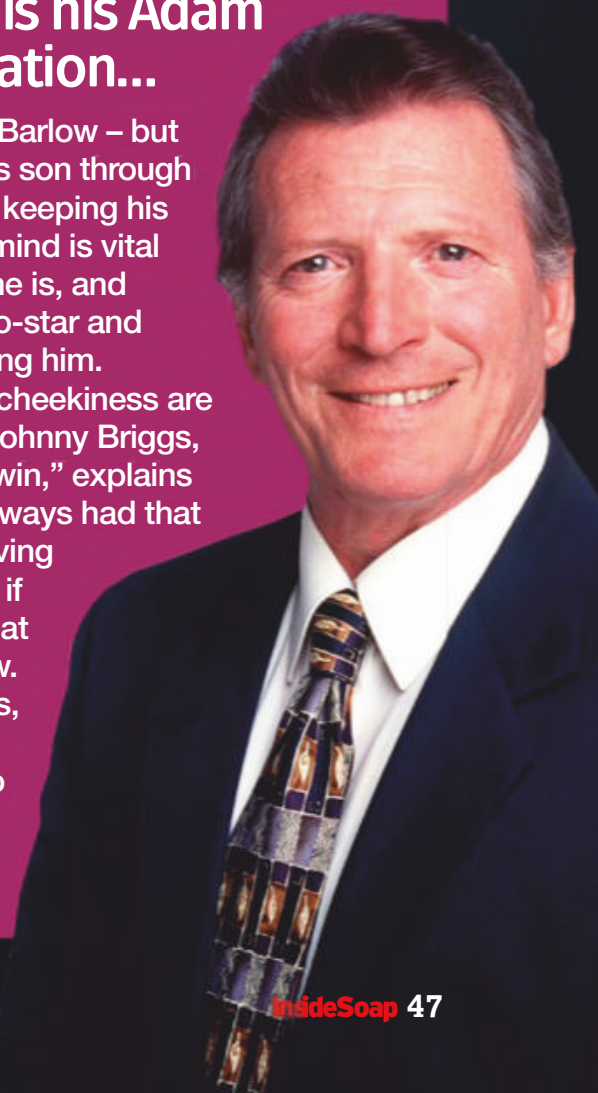

Kate White

Just like MIKE!

Sam reveals his Adam inspiration...

His surname might be Barlow – but Adam is Mike Baldwin's son through and through. For Sam, keeping his alter ego's heritage in mind is vital to making Adam who he is, and he credits his former co-star and screen dad with inspiring him.

"Adam's charm and cheekiness are actually derived from Johnny Briggs, who played Mike Baldwin," explains Adam. "I feel that he always had that great balance of conniving charm. I kind of feel as if we're starting to see that in Adam on screen now. He can be a bit devious, but he can also be fun and not take things too seriously. I've tried to bring that cheekiness to Adam's character."

Family VALUES!

STARS ORPHEUS PLEDGER AND JAMES STEWART – AKA MASON AND JUSTIN – LIFT THE LID ON BEING PART OF THE MORGAN CLAN...

HOME AND AWAY | Channel 5 MONDAY

We can't think of any other soap siblings who are as dedicated to looking out for each other as Summer Bay's Morgan clan. After everything that they've been through in their lives, they've grown into a tight-knit unit – however, all of that could soon be ripped away if Mason ends up going to jail for drug possession!

"The family thinks that Mason was nuts for doing what he did," sighs Orpheus Pledger, who plays Mason. "They haven't supported him as they know it's illegal, and now all their worst fears are coming true – Mason is in trouble! But he has, and always will, put his family first."

Mason was only obtaining cannabis in the first place in order to help his sister Raffy deal with her epilepsy symptoms. This week, he asks for sister Tori's help in speaking up for him when he goes to court. But while she's reluctant to get involved, Mason's big brother Justin is a little bit more supportive.

"Justin is just thinking about his younger brother," confirms James Stewart, who plays him. "He's horrified that Mason was arrested, because this situation could ruin his life. Although at the same time this is a real medical issue, and all Justin can do is seek advice from Tori."

Thankfully for Justin, he has some support from outside his family in the shape of his new girlfriend, Leah. And James says his alter ego's latest romance has gone down well with the fans.

"They are a mid-age couple, and I think they appeal to the viewers," he grins. "It's a no-brainer – they are so good together. Justin doesn't want to spill his real feelings too soon, but he knows Leah is the one."

In real life, James has found his own true love in the shape of co-star Sarah Roberts, who plays

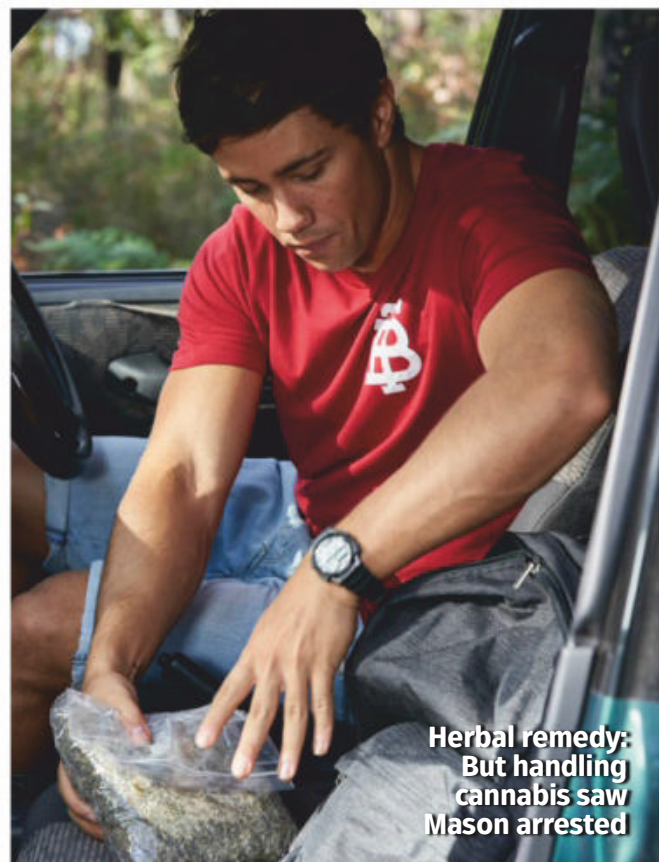

Justin's ex-girlfriend, Willow. The pair are currently planning their wedding after James popped the question late last year – although James admits that he's rather disappointed that his and his wife-to-be's alter egos don't share as much time on screen now as they once did.

“Sarah is one of God's good people,” he grins. “She's so talented, but this is the nature of the business. We're pros, and we just leave it at the door. The wedding plans are coming along very well – I'm blessed to have Sarah in my life.”

Meanwhile, the Morgan clan could soon be looking a little depleted, with Penny McNamee (Tori) taking a break for her maternity leave, Olivia Deeble (Raffy) currently filming a Disney movie in Canada, and confirmation that Jackson Heywood (Brody) has filmed his final scenes on the show. But Orpheus remains philosophical about the family's separation.

“We're all so tight in real life,” he shares. “It doesn't matter where in the world we are, we will always be connected!”

Summer baes: James and co-star Sarah are due to get married

Jacob faces one of the darkest days of his life this week, as his mother Omo loses her battle with cancer and passes away in his arms. Casualty star Charles Venn, who plays the grief-stricken nurse, tells us that filming these scenes was pretty emotional for him, too...

Jacob knows Omo is ill – but does he realise that they have so little time left together?

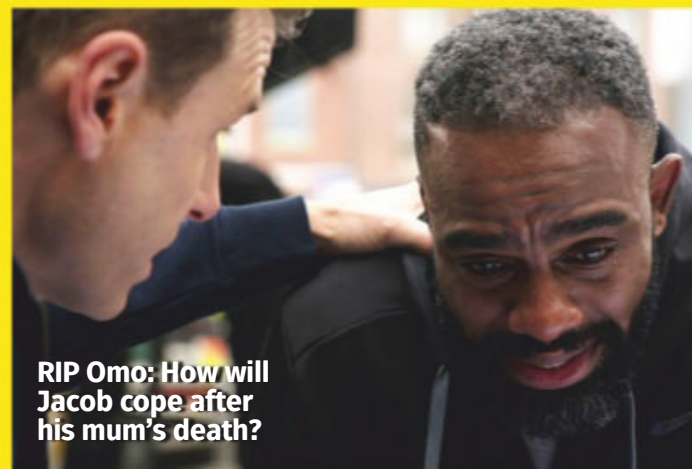

No, it's heart-wrenching – you wouldn't wish it on your worst enemy. Jacob's desperately trying to make up for lost time with his mum, trying to mend their relationship, and he's doing it on borrowed time. But he does feel a sense of solace that she's able to open up to him.

What are Omo's final moments like?

Jacob wants his mother to love him as much as he loves her, so to have that and to gain closure before she passes away is hugely powerful. However, to have her die in his arms is devastating – it's making me emotional now just thinking about it!

It must have been tough filming those final scenes with Ellen Thomas, who plays Omo...

It was hard, because Ellen's such an amazing actress, so she conjured up those emotions organically. And to hold her in my arms and hear her saying Omo's last, dying words... yeah, that was tough. But Jacob's a strong man, and he knows his mother is always there with him in spirit.

RIP Omo: How will Jacob cope after his mum's death?

Before her death, Omo revealed that Jacob's father is still alive. Will Jacob go looking for him?

Who knows? I believe he would want to find him. But out of respect for his mother, he'll put it on hold for now. He understands the reasons why she never included Jacob's father in their lives. At the same time, I think he'll be curious to find out where he came from.

Would you be keen to play that out on screen?

Oh, that would be a great thing to play out! I'm sure that storyline will be tackled at some point, so watch this space...

10 totally true FACTS about... Alison King

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE WOMAN BEHIND CORRIE'S CARLA...

1 Alison Rosamund King was born on 3 March 1973 in Leicester. Raised by parents Alex and June, who both worked as nurses, she is the youngest of four siblings.

Alison's interest in acting started at high school and continued at sixth form, where she took drama classes in her free time.

WORDS: ALICE PENWILL PHOTOS: E&J CLARKE/EMPICS, FARRELL/BACKGRID, GETTY, MCPH/SHUTTERSTOCK, PA IMAGES

2 Despite her love for drama, Alison had other jobs before she became an actress. At 18, she moved to Newquay and worked in a surf shop, while surfing in her spare time. Alison then became a dental nurse, before getting her big break in 1998 with a small role in Channel 4 soap Brookside. In 2004 she was unveiled as the face of Boddington's Bitter, aka the 'Cream of Manchester', before joining the city's other famous export, Corrie.

3 In 2006, Alison arrived on the cobbles as Carla Connor, wife of factory owner Paul.

Carla later inherited the Underworld business after Paul died in a car accident, then acquired a whole new family when she was revealed to be the secret daughter of Johnny Connor. In 2016, Alison left the show, citing the "15-hour days" as part of the reason. However, the actress made a welcome return in 2017.

4 Alison is an award-winning actress – raking in trophies left, right and centre for her role as Carla. In 2012, the star won a British Soap Award for Best Actress. Three years later, Alison collected more gongs for her mantelpiece, when she won two awards in 2015 for Best Actress from TV Choice and of course, Inside Soap!

5 Since last year, Alison's been spotted looking very happy with a new beau, David.

Previously, she dated former Corrie actor Philip Middlemiss (aka Des Barnes), and was engaged to Dream Team co-star Jim Alexander. She shares her 10-year-old daughter, Daisy Mae, with Corrie technician Adam Hockett, whom she separated from in 2012. "I love being a mum and doing mum-and-daughter things," says Alison. "It's the best."

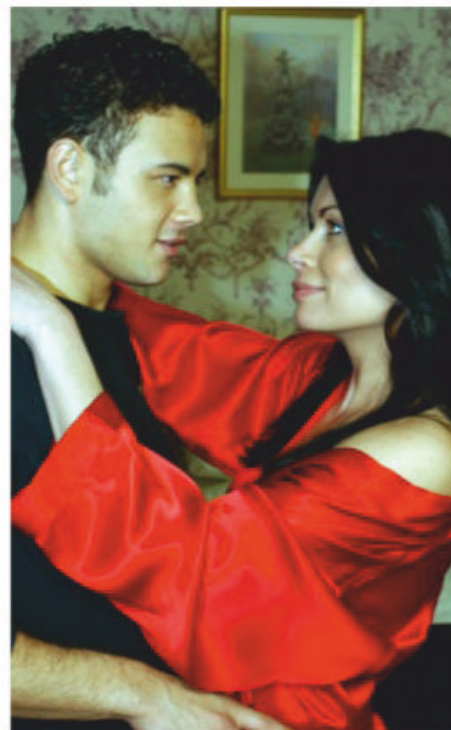

6 Alison has also been an action hero! She appeared in 2006 movie Final Contract: Death On Delivery, where the actress donned leather and wielded a crossbow. Alison also performed all stunts herself during the Street's dramatic siege week in 2010 (well, apart from when her character jumped off a balcony!). The dramatic scenes saw Carla bound and gagged thanks to her vengeful husband, Tony Gordon. "There were a few cuts and bruises," admits Alison.

7 Ali has worked alongside some high-profile celebrities. In 2018, the actress starred in the comedy series Sick Note with Rupert Grint, Nick Frost and Lindsay Lohan. "Rupert is an absolute treasure," reveals Alison. "He's quiet, beautiful, funny and really down to earth. We got the giggles a lot!"

8 Although she's happy playing feisty factory-owner Carla, Alison has revealed that there's one thing about her character she would like to change... "If I could change anything it would be Carla's voice," shares Alison. "I don't know how I ended up playing her with that terrible nasally twang – but I'm stuck with it now!"

9 Did you know that Carla Connor once seduced Jason Grimshaw? Sort of, anyway! Back in 2004 Alison took on her first role in the soap as Mrs Fanshaw, an older housewife who bedded the young builder! And Alison and Ryan Thomas (Jason) remain great friends to this day – and were even rumoured to be seeing each other, much to Alison's amusement. "Ryan rang me to say, 'You know we're going out now, babes?'" she laughs. "I said, 'Oh, are we, babe? That's nice. See you later!'"

10 Alison is also super close with her Corrie cast mates. The actress is good friends with Samia Longchambon (Maria), Kym Marsh (Michelle) and Jane Danson (Leanne). "It's lovely – Alison's slotted back in," explained Samia when Alison made her return to the cobbles in 2017. "It's like she's never been away. She gives great massages."

Laying down the LAW!

Gregory Finnegan is in great spirits when we catch up with him – and it's little wonder, as just a few weeks back, he was named soap's Best Actor at the British Soap Awards!

"It was a bit of a surprise," he says. "And to be fair, I've lost quite a few before!" But on screen, life's not been so jolly for his character James, with his boyfriend Harry facing jail – not to mention the fact that Harry has also got an ex pregnant! Can their already fractured relationship last?

Hi, Gregory! First of all, congratulations on your win at the Soap Awards for Best Actor!

Oh, thank you! I mean, you always think you have a chance, but I didn't think I was going to win. You just never expect to hear your name read out for anything like that!

And Hollyoaks also won Best Soap, so it must've been a big night!

Well, Lysette [Anthony, aka James' mum Marnie], Parry [Harry] and I had a few drinks to celebrate afterwards. We were all delighted, but with everything Hollyoaks has

AS JAMES REACHES THE END OF HIS TETHER, GREGORY FINNEGAN TELLS US ABOUT HIS ALTER EGO'S TROUBLES, AND HOW HE FEELS ABOUT HIS OWN RECENT AWARDS SUCCESS...

Win-again Finnegan: Gregory was surprised by his recent win at the British Soap Awards done recently, I think we all felt that we were in with a chance. The show has had a brilliant 12 months, and I look at other people's work and I think how high the bar is.

How is James feeling after all the things that have gone on recently?

I think James has a lot going on. He has a lot of worries with Sadie – Harry's ex – coming back, as well as the hit-and-run. James is struggling to compute it all and see the truth.

What does James think about the Sadie situation?

He's definitely struggling to come to terms with Sadie, as well as the pregnancy. And we're going to see more of that in the coming weeks. Outwardly James is trying to show some solidarity, but there's a lot of turmoil inside. James does love Harry, and he wants it to work out – although I can't say that raising a baby would be high on his priorities for the new year!

James goes through Harry's phone this week – but why?

I think James is feeling very insecure – and, let's be honest, he hasn't had a great run in the past few years. John Paul [McQueen] cheated on him. He had Kyle going behind his back and setting him up. All these insecurities are coming home to roost, and that's obviously a pretty bad thing, as we all know.

Careless whispers: James is paranoid when he overhears Harry with Ste

James goes to fellow lawyer Sami for advice – do you think these two could potentially make a good team?

To be honest, we thought they might at some stage. I don't know whether that's something that will happen in the future, but at the moment they've come to an understanding. While James might not like Sami, he does respect him.

Afterwards, James finds Harry and Ste having an intense conversation – what does he think is going on?

James only thinks about one thing – that they're having some kind of liaison and that's going to be something he'll struggle to shake. There's a lot of history between them, and James believes that – potentially – it's not over...

It's been a while since James found out he had a secret son – how do you think he is doing with fatherhood?

Finding out about Romeo was completely shocking, in the best way! But I think James is doing pretty well, and he's definitely trying his best. And I think he's been getting better at it as time has passed. Whether or not that will continue remains to be seen...

James is struggling to compute it all and see the truth

Would you like to see James and Harry in a stable and comfortable relationship?

Oh, definitely! That's always the hope you have for your character – for them to be happy. I think it would be lovely if they could have their happy-ever-after. And I know if they can get through this, then they can get through anything.

Alice Penwill

Mates and FLATMATES!

James used to be a lone wolf, but his bachelor pad has recently turned into the family home! Marnie – the matriarch of the Nightingale family – has moved herself in, along with Romeo, his sister Juliet, and James' boyfriend, Harry. But Gregory is loving having such a crowded house!

"It's called 'James' flat' in the scripts – although really it's a rapidly extending house at the moment!" he laughs. "In theory, it's a two-up and two-down, but we've just put on a double garage out the back. I think it's quite roomy in there now.

"Owen [Warner, aka Romeo] and Niamh [Blackshaw, who plays Juliet] are both really talented and they both get their scenes straight away, which massively helps, while Lysette and I are best friends. In fact, we just went on a shopping trip together. She's my best mate up here, and in the show too. It's lovely."

Emmerdale's Amy Wyatt

...faces your questions!

Given big-mouth mum Kerry, it's a wonder Amy ever gets a word in edgeways! Luckily, star Natalie – who plays her – is our focus as she faces a grilling from our readers...

“Who showed you the ropes during your first day at Emmerdale?”

Laura [Norton, who plays her screen mum, Kerry]. I had been in touch with Laura quite a bit prior to starting anyway. I did my screen test with Laura, and I previously knew her from Newcastle a little bit. So it was very much Laura who helped me with everything.

“Who showed you the ropes on your first day?”

“Is it true that you and Laura Norton actually knew each other from years ago?”

Yes, we did! We both went to the same youth theatre, and when I was there I actually performed a play that Laura had written, which was amazing. We also have the same agent. So when I was auditioning for Amy, it was really lovely to have somebody there who I already knew. It just makes it a lot more relaxed.

“Have you had the chance to meet Chelsea Halfpenny, who played the role of Amy before you did?”

I've not met Chelsea, actually. I'm sure our paths will cross at some point, because we have a few mutual friends. She was recently working on Casualty with a really good friend of mine, Maddy Hill [aka Ruby], who I was at drama school with. Chelsea did write a lovely message to me on Twitter, so she's very nice.

I was really lucky because when I came into the show, we went straight to Belfast to film. We stayed there for the week, and all the cast and crew went out quite a lot while we were there. It was brilliant for me, because it meant I got to know people a lot quicker. We had one really fun night out – I have a video of our director doing the best dance routine!

“Who in Emmerdale would you like to have more scenes with?”

Olivia Bromley, who plays Dawn. I really like Olivia, and I'm going to start working with her a little bit soon, which will be nice. I think Dawn and Amy have quite similar pasts, in terms

Taking Kerr: Amy has a fiery relationship with her mum

Dawn again: Natalie would love more scenes with fellow star Olivia Bromley of them both having children who they would like more contact with. So I think they would be good friends.

“What’s it like to play mum to a seven-year-old, and is he well behaved on set?”

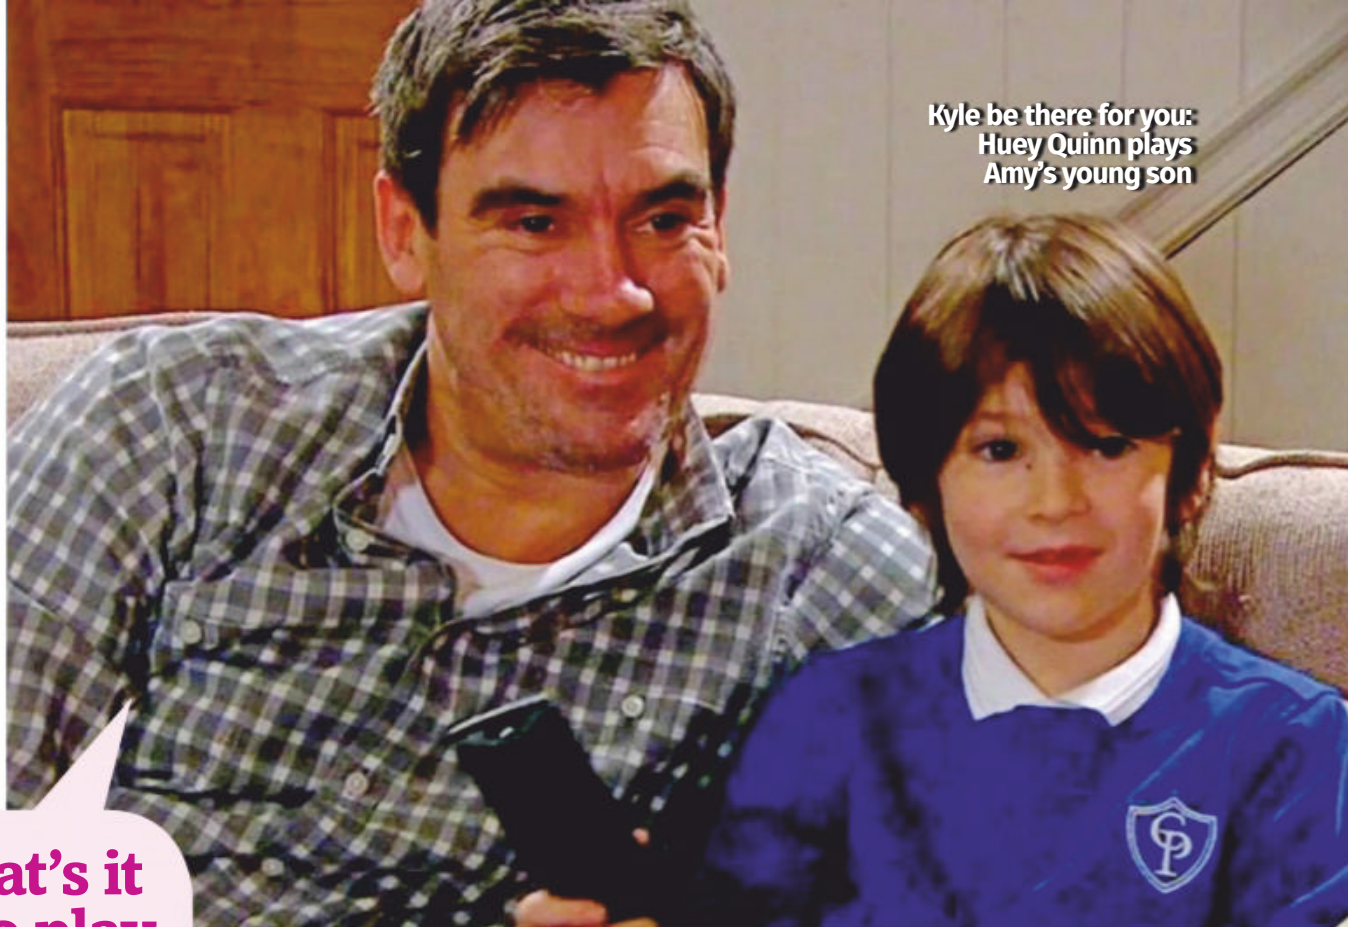

He’s very well behaved – he’s brilliant! I really enjoy working with Huey [Quinn, who plays Kyle] – he’s got loads of jokes, which are fantastic! He’s so curious about everything that’s going on in the studio, and the character’s journeys. He watches it all on TV, so he’ll say to somebody, “I saw you on telly last night – why were you doing that?” It’s really nice to work with him, because he just has a genuine interest in everything that goes on. It’s lovely.

“I saw that you have a fantasy football team. Are you a big footie fan? Which team do you support?”

I’m sure it’s no surprise to anyone that I support Newcastle! When I was little, I pretty much spent my life wearing the kit – I got all of the new strips that came out. Most people would just wear the football tops, but I would wear the top, the shorts, and the socks! I don’t get to go to as many games as I would like, but I watch it a lot on the telly. There’s an Emmerdale fantasy football league apparently, so I’m going to join that one soon.

“If you could film anywhere in the world, where would it be?”

We were talking about this the other day. I was working with Natalie J Robb [aka Moira], and we were saying it would

Kyle be there for you: Huey Quinn plays Amy’s young son

“What’s it like to play mum to a seven-year-old?”

be great to do ‘Moira in Marbs’! Maybe she has run away with the kids to Spain, and Amy has to chase her down. We were also saying we’d love to do something for charity where we go on a trip and the bus breaks down, and we find ourselves in the Rovers Return. That would be fun.

“What do you think of Amy’s wardrobe, and would you wear her clothes in real life?”

I love Amy’s wardrobe, she has got the best shoes! I have lots of similar things to Amy, but I just wear them differently to her. I’d say Amy has more colour in her wardrobe than I do – it’s so easy to pick up something black, isn’t it? She’s more fun than me in that sense.

“Were you an Emmerdale fan before you joined the show?”

Yeah, and I have lots of Emmerdale fans in the family as well. It was so exciting to tell them that I was going into the show, because they have years and years’ worth of Emmerdale knowledge. I used to watch it with my grandma, she loves it. Eric Pollard was my favourite character, so I love working with Chris [Chittell, who plays him]!

“If you could cast any celebrity to have a cameo in Emmerdale, who would it be?”

...asks reader Elizabeth Hancock from Bristol

I think Jodie Comer is amazing! I’d love to work with her, so it would be great if she could come into Emmerdale. She plays the villain very well, but her character in Killing Eve is so complex – she’s one of those baddies that everyone loves. Soaps do those characters really well, too.

Summer OF LOVE

CORRIE STARS SWAP MANCHESTER FOR SUN-KISSED SHORES...

The Platts have had a dramatic time on screen of late, so much so that it's taken actress Tina O'Brien (Corrie's Sarah) six months to head off on her honeymoon!

Tina and her husband Adam Crofts tied the knot on New Year's Eve last year. They took a 'mini-moon' to the Lake District immediately after their romantic wedding ceremony, but finally went on their official honeymoon to Italy recently. The newly-ish weds jetted off to Positano, a village on the Amalfi Coast, where they visited the Faraglioni Rocks, aka the cave of love, and the Blue Grotto on the nearby island of Capri – and spent time on a private boat and enjoying a helicopter ride.

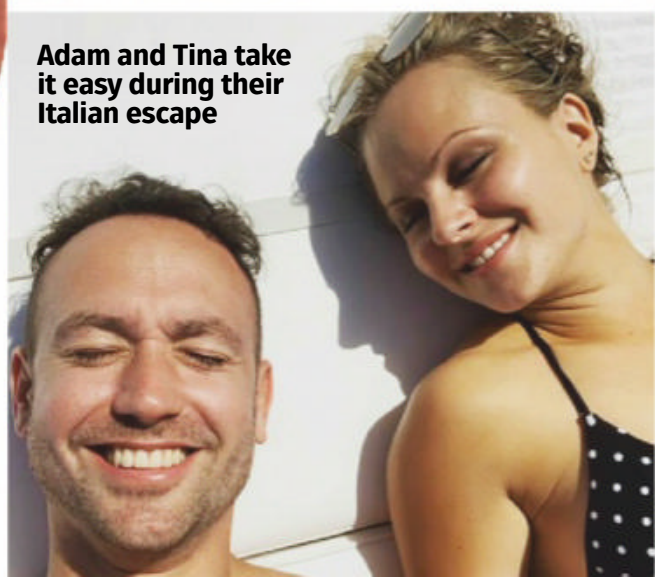

Meanwhile, over in the Caribbean, Tina's on-screen brother Jack P Shepherd (David) also enjoyed a romantic break with his girlfriend, Hanni Trewick. They opted for the Dominican Republic as part of Hanni's 30th birthday celebrations. The couple seemed to have an amazing time, chilling with cocktails and cold beers on sandy beaches.

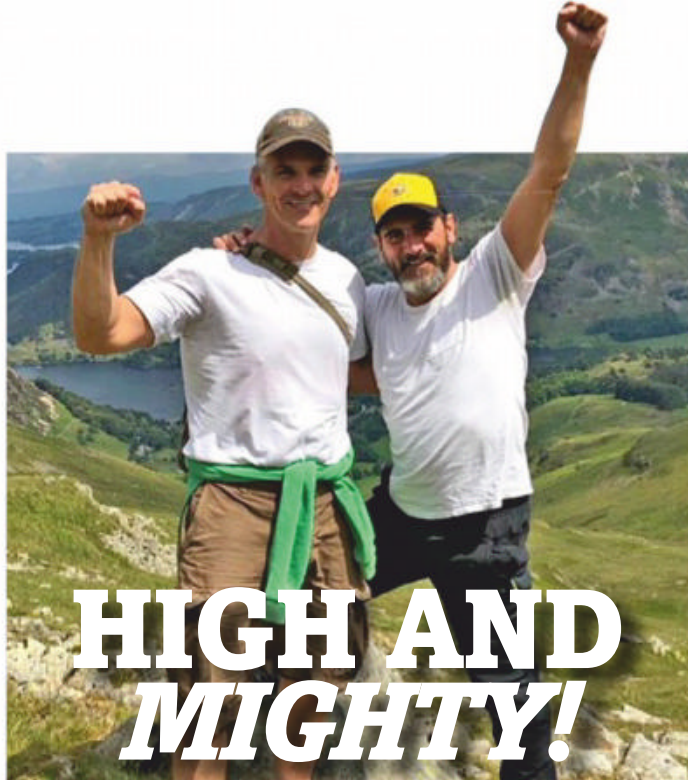

Jack and Hanni enjoyed sun, sea and (underwater) selfies

HIGH AND MIGHTY!

They may not cross paths too much on the cobbles, but the Street's Chris Gascoyne (Peter) and Tristan Gemmill (who plays Robert) joined forces on a hike! The two shared pics with enviable views on top of Helyellyn – a mountain in the Lake District. Well done, guys!

TEDDY BOY!

Corrie's Kym Marsh (aka Michelle) is a nana. The star's first grandchild was born in May, and the occasion was made all the more special when Michelle's daughter, Emilie Cunliffe, named her newborn son Teddy Archie David Hoszowskyj – a tribute to Kym's late son Archie – who was born 18 weeks prematurely, and passed away moments later.

Emilie said: "I wanted the name Archie to feature, but I wanted it to be a surprise for Mum." She revealed the name of her baby with an engraved bracelet for her mother.

"As far as I knew he was going to be Teddy David," admitted Kym. "When I found out his name, I burst into floods of tears. Now Archie lives on in Teddy's name."

MATT'S BABY TALK!

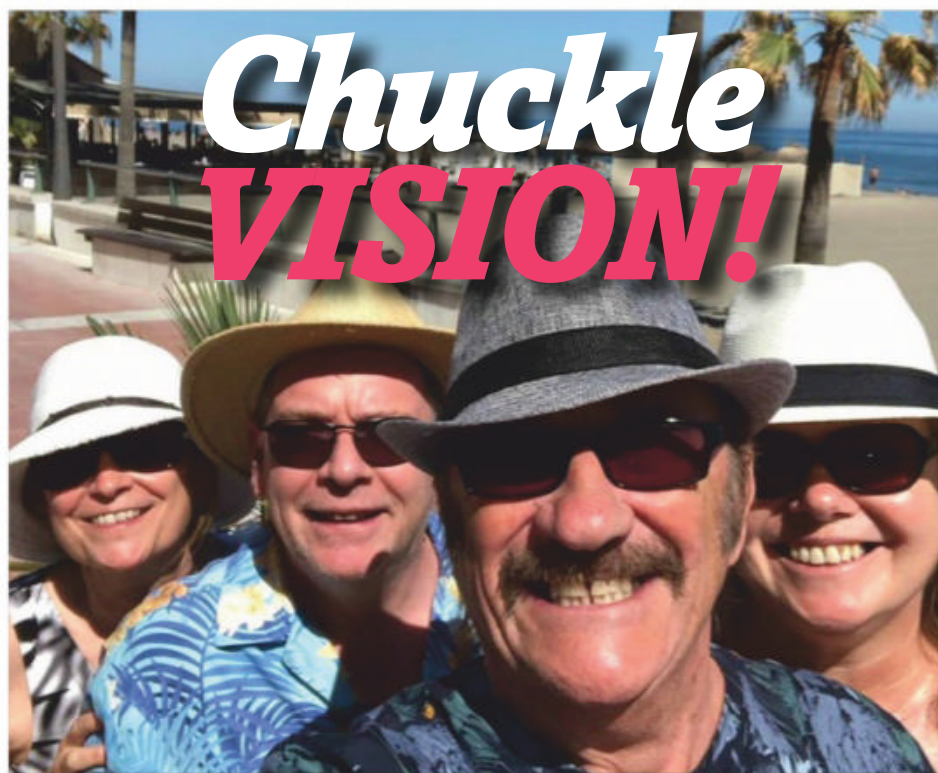

With just a few weeks until baby number three arrives, the Dales' Matthew Wolfenden (aka David) revealed this pregnancy hasn't been easy for wife and cast mate Charley Webb (Debbie).

"This one has been brutal," shared Matt. "She's been ill from the get go."

"We don't know if it's a boy or girl," he added. "Everyone says, 'Oh, you would love a girl as you've got two boys', but – it's the old cliché – as long as it's healthy."

Chuckle VISION!

As showbiz pals go, the most unlikely mates are perhaps EastEnders' Adam Woodyatt (Ian) and Paul Chuckle! The pair first met in 2017 and have remained firm friends since. They recently took a break to the Costa del Sol with their wives and chums for a birthday celebration – and they all seemed to have a great time soaking up the sun!

WILD AT HEART!

A NEW SIX-PARTER INVITES US TO FOLLOW LIFE ON THE SAVANNAH...

The battle between two males for the attention of a female ends in tragedy. Another female is shunned by her family when the true parentage of her offspring is revealed. An adolescent feels left out when a new baby demands all of his mother's time and attention. No, it's not, as you might think, a summary of this week's happenings in soapland, but a snapshot of life in the Serengeti, as captured in this new six-part wildlife series.

Narrated by Star Wars actor John Boyega, the programme introduces us to a regular cast of characters who we'll be following over the course of its run, as they experience love, betrayal, loss and joy

Monkey wrench: Bakari's love is unrequited

– just like the personas in any prestige TV drama.

"I've been making natural history films for 30 years now, and the direction has been more and more about getting inside their world, and understanding their families as we understand human families," explains the show's executive producer, John Downer. "We're staying faithful to their biology and natural drives, but underpinning it all is this emotional attachment to their families. There are no goodies or baddies – it's about multiple perspectives, but also these interconnected lives. When one animal does one thing, it has ramifications for so many other animals."

Arguably the heart of episode one is lioness Kali, who has been cast out of her pack after having cubs with an outsider. Without the support of her clan, finding and catching food for her young litter is a huge and exhausting task for Kali – and if she can't manage it, they may not survive.

"Her story is a journey," John tells us. "Can she get back to the pride? Can she keep those cubs alive? She's facing a fairly uncertain future – and later in the series she meets with one of the males that got rid of her from the pride. He stalks her for almost that whole episode – it's terrifying."

Another key storyline from episode one is that of baboon Bakari, who finds himself caught up in a high-stakes love triangle when the female that he's devoted to begins a relationship with the more aggressive leader of his troop.

"I would say Bakari is the surprising star of the show," enthuses John. "As that storyline goes on, it just gets more and more amazing. He's part of a baboon troop, and these animals have strong friendships and relationships with the females – but as a lower-ranking male, Bakari hasn't got many. His is really a love story that goes a bit wrong..."

The series was able to be made thanks to ongoing advances in filming technology that allowed the team to place hidden cameras

TV presenter Chris Bavin picks his dream viewing...

Moana

I think the BBC is making some amazing drama at the moment.

I love Luther, so I really enjoyed the most recent series of that, and I also loved Bodyguard. BBC dramas in general are just fabulous.

Fleabag* was a big hit for me, but I got into it quite late!

I didn't see series one the first time round, so when series two came out I went back and watched the first series, then went straight on to the second. I absolutely loved it – I thought it was sheer genius.

The films we watch a lot at the moment are Sing! and Moana – with two young children, we have lots of animated films on repeat in the house! But classic films for me are things like The Godfather, Star Wars and Jaws. I must have seen Jaws about 100 times, but if it comes on the telly, I can happily lose myself in that for a couple of hours!

In terms of watching as a family, we like Strictly Come Dancing and Britain's Got Talent – big, shiny-floor entertainment shows. But I also like documentaries we can watch together, like Blue Planet or Planet Earth – the camera work on those is sensational.

I don't want to muscle in on anyone's else's job, but if David Attenborough ever needs any holiday cover, I would absolutely go to the Galápagos Islands and film some amazing nature! Or something like Countryfile would be brilliant – anything outdoors, that gets you out and seeing things...

WE HAD OUR DOUBTS ABOUT whether this star-studded drama getting a second season would prove to be its undoing, but we're relieved to say they were entirely unfounded: it's still first-rate telly. While telling a different story this time around, it remains a fascinating character

GROUNDS FOR APPEAL

CAROL KLEIN JUDGES THE EFFORTS OF SOME OF THE UK'S BEST PROFESSIONAL GARDEN DESIGNERS...

THE GREAT GARDENING CHALLENGE | Channel 5 TUESDAY

Power plant: Dean and Sue join the competition for best garden

We love it when TV shows help to make a bit of a positive difference in the world, so we're definitely on board with the ethos of this new competition series. Teams of professional garden designers go head-to-head to transform under-used spaces into beautiful gardens in just 48 hours. They have a detailed brief to follow, a £5,000 budget to stick to, and at the end of it they'll be judged by gardening experts Carol Klein and Mark Gregory. Inside TV caught up with Carol to find out what she made of their efforts...

What was it about this show that appealed to you?

I think it's a really novel idea, something that hasn't been done before, so I felt privileged to take part. And I'm keen on encouraging new designers. I don't think gardening is always about competition, but in this case it's promoted excellent people and superb designs.

Although it's a competition, the contributors seem to be enjoying the work. Was that important to you?

Absolutely. The great thing is that all these gardens are for people. They've been left for people to enjoy, and will carry on growing. I think that's one of the most attractive aspects of the show. And everyone is doing it because they love it – so when they were stressed, it was only because they wanted to make sure their gardens became what they intended.

Were there times when you and Mark didn't agree?

No, but there were a couple of minor things where Mark thought something mattered, and I thought it was less important! It was usually that way around because he's far more meticulous than I am. When it comes to building techniques and materials, he has far more knowledge than I do. When it comes to plants, I might know! Although he's a very good plantsman, too.

And were there times when something that didn't seem promising in the plans really surprised you?

There were a few, but I couldn't possibly tell you which ones! But, yes, there were some where you thought, 'How the hell are they going to do that in two days?', yet they pulled it off, and a couple where you thought, 'Perhaps that's not ambitious enough', but when it was executed fully, it worked. Some of them were superb.

Yard birds: Kate and Tamara get to work in a Liverpool park

It sounds like you were quite impressed by the overall standard...

I really was! I think it can be soul-destroying to be judged, but I think that the criteria we measured them by was fair. And we assessed them in a very positive spirit – it wasn't about knocking points off, it was more a question of how much we could give them, which I think is the way to do it. That's not to say we overdid it – Mark wouldn't let me get away with that, that's for sure!

KIRSTIE'S CELEBRITY CRAFT MASTERS | Channel 4 WEEKDAYS

HE'S GOT IT MADE

RAV WILDING IS ONE OF THE STARS TAKING ON KIRSTIE ALLSOPP'S NEW CRAFTING CHALLENGE...

Television's Queen of Crafting Kirstie Allsopp returns this week with a new series in which celebrities will learn new skills from professional crafters to produce three handmade items. They then head to Craft HQ to have their efforts judged, before taking on one final task against the clock. TV presenter Rav Wilding accepted the challenge, which saw him pitted against his old pal Angellica Bell – but how did he get on?

"I knew I was going to be rubbish!" laughs Rav. "It's something I've never really tried before, but that's kind of why I wanted to do it. I just thought it would be a bit of fun, and I'd learn something along the way, so I'm glad I did it – but I was terrible!"

Rav and Angellica previously faced each other on ITV's Arctic challenge show 71 Degrees North back in 2011 – and even though that was eight years ago, the pair still had a score to settle...

"People were eliminated every week until there were only two finalists – which was me and Angellica," recalls Rav. "On that show, I managed to beat her – so she wanted to get one back on me! But it was nice to be up against her because we have that history and we're friends."

Rav thought the show's judges might go easy on him as a beginner, but it turns out that he was in for a rude awakening...

"I haven't had anything like that since I got absolutely pantsed by the judges on Strictly!" he chuckles. "And that was a long time ago. We met the judges on this show very briefly before we started filming. They said, 'We're going to be mean', and I was like, 'This is a craft show, you're not really...' And they were! They were very critical – quite harsh, actually! But then, that's what they're there for: they have to be honest."

KILLING EVE | BBC1 9.15PM

Crisp notes

We're no stranger to single-handedly comfort-eating our way through a Grab Bag of Walkers when the chips are down (ho ho), so we're relieved to see we're not alone in that custom in tonight's episode. With matters apparently in chaos, Carolyn is called in to see the head honcho – who has a penchant for Pringles when the going gets tough – but assures her boss that everything's under control.

Meanwhile, Villanelle is in Amsterdam to carry out a job with a shocking flamboyance (even by her standards). But as the assassin awaits the arrival of Eve to investigate her latest kill – munching on sliced spuds to alleviate the anticipation – what she sees out of the window isn't what she expected...

THE VOICE KIDS | ITV 8PM

Between the ages of seven and 14, Inside TV was singing into a hairbrush along to song lyrics in Smash Hits, and the idea of going on stage to perform in front of a live audience and some of pop's biggest stars would've had us hiding under our Garfield duvet. Come 2019, the plucky youngsters on this show continue to wow with not just their vocal talent, but also their fearlessness. So far, we've seen Lil Shan Shan's rap skills; Amaree doing Stevie Wonder, Charley smashing Lauryn Hill, and Keira's version of Zendaya's Neverland. Tonight, it's the final round of blind auditions before next week's battles begin...

BEECHAM HOUSE | ITV 9PM

Harbour resentment

Say what you like about John Beecham, but he's definitely the person you'd hope pulls your name out of the hat when the time comes to draw the office Secret Santa, because his gift-sourcing skills are second to none. He finds the perfect present for the Empress tonight, but his efforts appear to be in vain when both the gift and his servant Gopal fail to turn up on the expected ship. Learning that Castillon has overall responsibility for the harbour, John suspects that a particularly foul act of sabotage has been carried out.

Back at the house, Henrietta is making few friends and has exhausted her supply of opium. Violet volunteers to source some more for her – but insists on a favour in return...

PHOTO: GETTY

So, we suppose you'd quite like to see the set from the highest-selling Australian recording artist of all time at this year's Glasto, but you don't want to wade through the mud or sleep in a tent? You should be so lucky. Lucky, lucky, lucky, because BBC1 is beaming the full Minogue experience straight into your homes this evening. She's been gifted the 'Legends' slot at this year's festival, reserved for true musical royalty, and we know by now that our Kylie can put on a show that has the crowd eating out of her hand. Expect hits, hits and lots more hits.

S.W.A.T. | Sky One 9PM

Despite being fired by Hondo last season, it's clear that Jim Street isn't entirely outside the orbit of S.W.A.T. – particularly tonight, when they end up working alongside him to find a woman and her son who are fleeing an international drug cartel. Chris can tell that Street wants to come back, but can she persuade him to talk to Hondo and clear the air? Meanwhile, Hondo makes an unsettling discovery about his friend's teenage son, who's currently behind bars...

JEFF GOLDBLUM AND THE MILDRED... | BBC4 7PM

No, your eyes do not deceive you: Jeff Goldblum is playing Glastonbury, in his role as a celebrated jazz musician rather than a major movie star. Catch his set tonight with his band, the intriguingly named Mildred Snitzer Orchestra.

MARVEL'S AGENTS OF SHIELD | E4 9PM

The fates have conspired to keep FitzSimmons apart on more than one occasion, but tonight the duo are achingly close to their long-awaited reunion. But they'll have to battle with their own demons in order to make it happen...

WIMBLEDON 2019 | BBC2 10.30AM

Court on camera

Strawberries? Check. Pimm's? Check. Umbrellas? Check. Sue Barker introduces live coverage of the first day's play at the All England Club tonight – joined throughout The Championships by the likes of John McEnroe, Boris Becker, Billie Jean King, Martina Navratilova, Kim Clijsters and Tim Henman.

Last year, Novak Djokovic landed his fourth Wimbledon win – and following tradition, as the reigning men's champ he'll contest the first match on Centre Court. British hopes are pinned on wildcard entry Paul Jubb, the 19-year-old who recently became the first Briton to win the NCAA men's singles title. Fellow Brits Jay Clarke, Heather Watson, James Ward, Harriet Dart and Katie Swan also have places in the draw.

TRAWLMEN: CELEBS AT SEA | Channel 5 9PM

Now, we love to see a bunch of famous faces thrown in at the deep end, but here's one we never saw coming... Boyzone's Shane Lynch, former rugby pro Ben Cohen and chef Antony Worrall Thompson weather storms, sleep deprivation and seasickness to become fully fledged fishermen. Under the guidance of their skipper Alan, trawling begins 200 miles north of the Scottish Highlands. After the first catch comes in, they gut the fish by hand – a double whammy for Ben, who's already suffering with his sea legs. Mark our words, 'Celebrity Barrel-Bottom Scraping' can only be a matter of months away...

WACO | Alibi 9PM

In February 1993, the world suddenly became aware of a small religious community in Texas, when the FBI raided its compound. Just 51 days later, a fire at the site killed 76 people. So what happened?

Based on real events, this drama opens as a tip-off about suspicious activity at The Mount Carmel Center just outside Waco is received. And so surveillance of cult leader David Koresh and his devoted followers, The Branch Davidians, begins...

KATHERINE RYAN: GLITTER ROOM | Netflix

The comic talks bullies, school moms and raising a posh kid. Her sell-out tour – so-named after her daughter’s choice of decor – recorded at London’s Apollo, has been cut down to an hour-and-a-bit – but her opinions come filter-free. Yay!

TEACHER’S PET | 5STAR 9PM

This film reveals the shocking stories of teenagers groomed by their teachers, talking to three people whose mentors abused their positions of trust to form sexual bonds with them as children, and the damaging effects it caused into adulthood.

JUDI DENCH'S WILD BORNEO ADVENTURE | ITV 9PM

Orang, M'Lord?

Well, M'Dame, this first of a new two-parter follows Judi Dench to Borneo, to explore one of the world's oldest rainforests, meet its inhabitants and glean just how integral it is to life on our planet. Dame Judi takes a chopper ride to the heart of the island to meet orangutans, giant grasshoppers and dung beetles, including one she loves so much she names him Bob. (Look, it's Dame Judi Dench: she can do what she likes.)

She also meets the scientists using the latest tech to map the rainforest from the skies in order to show how deforestation is having a devastating impact on the Earth. But it's not all doom and gloom: Dame Judi discovers how the jungle's orangutans are actually helping to prevent global warming...

INSIDE THE BANK OF ENGLAND | BBC2 9.30PM

Regional variations

It's largely responsible for what happens to our cash, yet many of us don't fully understand it. (No, we don't mean children.) This new series spent a year filming in the Bank of England to find out how it works behind closed maximum-security doors, with unprecedented access and conversations with Governor Mark Carney. Tonight's episode reveals how the institution influences the rate of inflation – and explains its reasoning to both the press and public. As interest-rate day draws closer, unexpected news on economic growth threatens to undermine the Bank's carefully crunched numbers...

CRASHING | Sky Atlantic 11.25PM

As the last-ever season kicks off, tonight's double-bill sees Pete returning to the New York stand-up circuit with newfound vigour following a successful two-month college comedy tour. Yep, no more crashing on other people's sofas for Pete, as he moves into his own place. However, the comic quickly discovers that having a foot in the door doesn't make him ahead of the pack...

WARRIOR | Sky One 10PM

After intercepting a shipment of drugs at the docks, Young Jun sends a message to Long Zii. Elsewhere, Big Bill and Lee investigate a gruesome murder scene in an alley next to an Irish bar, while Ah Sahm pays the price for playing the hero.

INSIDE THE OPERATING THEATRE | W 10PM

Tonight, four-year-old Kacey is facing an operation to stop her eyelid drooping over her pupil; Matthew is getting his rugby-induced broken nose reset, and Mary is receiving treatment for a trapped nerve in her wrist. Ew, ow and ouch.

ANNA: THE WOMAN WHO WENT TO FIGHT ISIS | BBC2 9.30PM

Fighting talk

The death of 26-year-old Anna Campbell made headlines in the UK last March due to the unusual circumstances that surrounded it: she was killed by a Turkish air strike while in Syria fighting alongside the Kurdish Women's Protection Units. This documentary, part of BBC2's 'This World' strand, uses Anna's diaries and the videos she filmed while she was there to compile her story.

Anna, from Lewes in East Sussex, travelled to northern Syria in secret and had no previous military experience, but she was determined to protect the fledgling feminist democracy emerging in the country that was under threat from the so-called Islamic State. Within eight months, she was on the front line...

THE RESTAURANT THAT MAKES MISTAKES | Channel 4 9PM

Regional variations

It's the final episode, and chef-mentor Josh Eggleton is keen to continue challenging his staff of volunteers, who are all living with dementia. In an effort to show how flexible they can be, and to prove to the wider business community what they can do, Josh revamps the restaurant's menu – and even takes his staff away from the familiar environment of the restaurant to work at an event for local employers at Bristol City Hall. As the experiment draws to a close, dementia specialist Dr Zoe Wyrko is on hand to measure whether there have been discernible signs of improvement in the volunteers.

SARAH PAYNE: THE UNTOLD STORY | ITV 9PM

Speaking of Sarah

ITV's 'Crime And Punishment' strand continues, as Susanna Reid speaks to Sara Payne, the mother of eight-year-old Sarah who was abducted from her grandparents' house and murdered in July 2000. Sarah's killer was convicted paedophile

Roy Whiting, and the case led to Sara's championing of a campaign to change the law, allowing parents and guardians to request information from the police regarding people they believe could pose a threat to their children – a campaign that came to be commonly known as Sarah's Law.

Nearly 20 years on, Sara – along with Sarah's siblings and grandparents – talks about how they coped at the time, and the lasting impact that Sarah's death has had on the whole family.

French twist

THE HOTEL INSPECTOR | Channel 5 9PM

The Hotel Inspector's remit doesn't just stop at the British borders, so Alex is off to the French Pyrenees in tonight's episode, having received a distress call from an ex-pat family running a specialist retreat in the village of Gaudiès. Mike and Joss have sunk everything they have into making their operation work, but Zero Neuf just isn't bringing in the bookings that they need to stay in business. Alex thinks the key to keeping Zero Neuf alive might require a radical rethink of their offering and considering some different revenue streams – but will Mike and Joss be convinced?

STRANGER THINGS | Netflix

Get ready for the wave of 1980s nostalgia to wash over you again as Netflix’s smash-hit sci-fi series returns for a third season today. It’s the summer of 1985 in Hawkins, Indiana, and Eleven and her friends are on the cusp of adulthood, with all of the emotional turmoil that comes with that territory. But they don’t only have hormones to contend with, as evil descends upon the town once more...

GALDEM SUGAR | BBC3 10AM

As the series comes to a close, the five female grime artists plan to celebrate their friendship with an all-women music event, where they’ll perform as a collective for the first time. But Laughta and C Cane have issues to resolve...

LEGION | Fox 9PM

Season two of this offbeat superhero drama posed some intriguing questions about whether David is the hero or the villain of the piece – or both. In this final season, the battle for David’s soul has never been more important.

SHIPMATES | Channel 4 11.05PM

Cruising for a schmoozing

Something tells us this new game show will be giving Jane McDonald a few nightmares. It's similar in format to Shipwrecked, with the fairly crucial difference of being set on board a ship rather than an island. Two groups of friends join 1,500 party-loving funsters on a Mediterranean cruise, and over the course of a week they'll embark upon a charm offensive to get the others to vote for them to win a luxury holiday.

But, of course, there's a twist they don't know about: there are secret stowaways on board who the players thought they had left behind, and their rivals have the opportunity to send in a stowaway each day to cause some carnage. In tonight's opener, an awkward hook-up causes major drama...

THE NILE: EGYPT'S GREAT RIVER WITH BETTANY HUGHES | Channel 5 9PM

If you prefer your water-themed programming a little more on the erudite side, here's Bettany with the final part of her 900-mile journey down the longest river in Africa. As she reaches the southernmost stretches of the Nile, she visits the temple of the crocodile god Sobek, where a giant stone message board has been discovered in its foundations. She'll also stop in the city of Aswan and will visit the Old Cataract Hotel, the best vantage point in town and a favourite haunt of Churchill. And as she nears the Sudanese border, the most outrageous temple has been saved for last...

CHARLEY PRIDE: I'M JUST ME | BBC4 9.30PM

In the early 1960s, racial segregation was a major problem in Nashville, and an issue at the centre of many protests. So, for an African-American artist to make it in country music at that time was far from straightforward, but talent and perserverance helped Charley Pride to break through. This film follows his journey, with contributions from famous fans like Dolly Parton and Garth Brooks.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

JODI ANASTA (Elly Brennan, Neighbours)

OUT Jodi is taking a short break from Neighbours, in order to recover from the heavy workload. "She's just having a rest," confirmed Jodi's manager. "She's exhausted, so she's taking three weeks off. She's living between two cities, she's also a single mum, and there are challenges that come with that." Channel 10, which produces Neighbours, also commented on the star's break: "Jodi is taking some time out to rest. We look forward to having her back on set soon." Autumn

PATSY PALMER (Bianca Jackson, EastEnders)

IN Irrepressible Bianca is set to sweep back into Walford! Patsy is currently filming, and she's confirmed it will be for a three-week run. "Usually, when they have people back, you have to be there for a year," she says.

"I said, 'That wouldn't work for me – [my son] Bertie's still only eight'. And then, when I got the call to say, 'Do you want to come back for a short stint?', I was like yeah! I was excited, and it's so lovely to see everyone. They all want to know what you've been doing, and how the kids are, so it feels as if you've never been away. It's just so nice – it's like going back into one huge family." Autumn

MALIQUE THOMPSON-DWYER (Prince McQueen, Hollyoaks)

OUT Hollyoaks bosses have confirmed that Malique will soon be leaving the show, and Prince's final episodes will air later this summer. "Prince plans to travel the world with the bucket list that he and Lily wanted to fulfil together before they die," explains Malique. "Goldie struggles with the prospect of Prince leaving, feeling left behind once again. However, Prince persuades Goldie it's the right thing for him to do, given his stress." Malique also adds: "I will miss every single person. But the door is open. My character is still alive, so you never know – I could be back!" Summer

THE EX FILES!

Your update on the one-time stars of soap...

IS IT TAMWAR TIME?

While promoting his new movie, Yesterday, ex-EastEnders Himesh Patel (Tamwar Masood) was asked about the possibility of him ever returning to Square. "Oh, gosh, I don't know if one would, really, at the moment..." answered the star, hesitantly. "But if we all came back – the family who originally joined in 2007 – if we came back, and we were the main storyline for a week..." So he'd be happy to come back for just a week? "I'm not saying I'm definitely happy to do that," clarified Himesh. "But just hypothetically speaking... yes." That's a yes, then!

ROXANNE'S WAKE-UP CALL

Roxanne Pallett (Emmerdale's Jo Sugden) has spoken out about her experience on Celebrity Big Brother. The star left the house in disgrace in 2018, after making false allegations about ex-Corrie and Neighbours actor Ryan Thomas. "Last year doesn't define my life," Roxanne told Closer magazine. "It was two weeks out of 36 years, but CBB was the biggest wake-up call of my life – and the most valuable lesson."

FOSTERS REUNITED!

Ex-Corrie star Gwen Taylor (Anne Foster) is to be reunited with her on-screen son whom she killed! Gwen is joining Andrew Lancel (Frank Foster) in the cast of The Lady Vanishes – a touring production based on the 1938 Alfred Hitchcock movie. The Classic Theatre Company's tour will begin at Windsor's Theatre Royal on 26 August, before calling at Swindon, Weston-Super-Mare, Bury St Edmonds, Coventry, Derby, Darlington, Horsham, Exeter, Brighton, Yeovil, Torquay and Croydon.

THEATRE

ON YOUR FEET!

This is the toe-tapping and inspiring true story of Emilio and Gloria Estefan. The dance-tastic musical explores their love story, and how they brought Latin music to the streets of Miami. Featuring hit songs Rhythm Is Gonna Get You and Conga, it's on at the London Coliseum until 31 August. For info and to buy tickets, visit www.onyourfeetmusical.co.uk

DVD

IF BEALE STREET COULD TALK

It's the early 1970s and Tish is in love with Fonny – father of her unborn child. But then Fonny is falsely accused of rape, and ends up imprisoned! Can Tish prove his innocence before the baby arrives?

BOOK

THE FIRST MISTAKE by Sandie Jones

Alice and Beth are the best of friends – and when Alice suspects that her husband, Nathan, is having an affair, the first person she goes to is Beth. But can Beth be trusted? From the author of The Other Woman.

STAR CHOICE

Summer Bay's Patrick O'Connor (Dean)

"I just finished watching Game Of Thrones, which was insane! I followed it from when the first season came out, and I just absolutely love it. The fantasy is incredible, and I've read some of the books too. I was a bit upset about the ending – but saying that, the show gave me so much over eight years, that I can't really be disappointed."

Results day

WILL IT BE GOOD OR BAD NEWS FOR SINEAD?

YOUR NEXT ISSUE ON SALE TUESDAY 2 JULY

As she braces herself for the results of her all-important MRI scan next week, is Sinead about to discover that her cancer treatment has been working? The birth of baby Bertie has buoyed Sinead and Daniel through a tough time these past few months – but as she and her supportive partner head for the hospital, will Sinead get the news she's been praying for?

EMMERDALE

Priya's pain

Priya finds herself haunted by an old enemy next week, which leaves her struggling to hold it together. Over at Home Farm, Andrea is quick to notice that something is up – but can she give Priya the support she needs to get through her battle, or will she need to ask for help?

EASTENDERS

On the run

It's all about charity on Albert Square next week, as Chantelle, Gray and Mick prepare themselves for the Walford 10k run. However, while they get ready to raise some much-needed cash for a good cause, can the trio persuade any of their neighbours to take part in the race?

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

How fast they grow! One minute you're snatching them from an exploding car. The next they're getting married to the man who may have knocked up your wife.

Sarah has hit the jackpot with Adam – surely soap's most eligible bachelor?

Well, perhaps second-most eligible.

We've finally figured out where Jack made all his money. Delivering chocs, innit.

We're braced for goodness-knows-how-many weeks of chirpy Michelle swallowing Robert's totally transparent lies.

BULLSEYE!

It's wonderful how Karen Taylor has become, by degrees, the absolute heart of EastEnders, and the axis about which the whole show revolves. She's the matriarch of a sprawling clan. She knows the Mitchells' great secret. The Carters come to her for advice... Karen's a proper 'salt of the Earth' type, and we think EastEnders' creators Julia Smith and Tony Holland would have approved.

Oi, Debbie! Get your dirty boots off the furniture! Would you do that at home?

"Hey, Siri. Show me what it would look like if Corrie's Vicky and Gemma both had their babies and became friends."

New Bobby seems okay. Calmer. Just keep him away from any hockey sticks or jewellery boxes or, you know... objects of any kind.

Of course Bernice took an immediate shine to farmhand Nate. Remember her and Andy Sugden? She likes them young, dumb and full of commendable insights into animal husbandry and arable crop rotation.

It's 12.28pm, and David meets his new therapist. So – how many minutes until he beds her, cheats, then watches as she burns down his shop?

We were sure the plot about Roy's ring was going to reveal that he has a secret father who's still alive. We were all set for Corrie fan Sir Derek Jacobi turning up to play the part. Shame!

After Sharon's affair with Keanu, and Kim Tate almost getting a go on Pete, you can't say that the soaps aren't, deep down, fundamentally optimistic.

YOU USE IT TO FACE THE DAY WE USE IT TO FACE CANCER

Self-esteem is important to all women, it just happens to be in sharper focus for those who have cancer. That's the reason Look Good Feel Better exists. We have been helping to combat the visible side effects of cancer treatment for over 20 years through free confidence-boosting skincare and make-up workshops across the UK and worldwide.

At SunLife, we pay 100% of claims.

That's right. When you choose the Guaranteed Over 50 Plan from SunLife, you get the best possible peace of mind: the knowledge that we pay every single claim. Guaranteed.

More people trust SunLife for over 50s life cover than any other provider. Our roots stretch back over 200 years and we were the first to offer guaranteed acceptance. Today we've paid out over £305 million in claims.

Choose the UK's most trusted and most popular over 50s plan today and get a FREE £100 gift card as a thank you. Plus after one year your full payout is 100% guaranteed!

Important to know

If you die within the first year we'll pay back every penny paid in. If you stop paying your premiums, your insurance will end and you won't get anything back. You could pay in more than you get back. Inflation reduces buying power over time. More details available in the 'Information' section below.
